U. S. Assures Brazil Aid Is Not Impaired

Infiltration By Reds State Dept. Target

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brazil's ambassador sought and got State Department assurance Monday that its allegation that Communists have infiltrated Brazil's government was not timed to torpedo Brazil's urgent negotiations for more U.S. aid.

Ambassador Roberto Campos hurried to see Acting Secretary of State George Ball after Brazil's President Joao Goulart reacted angrily to last week's publication of State Department testimony before the House Foreign Affairs Latin American subcommittee.

In describing influence of the Communists in Brazil, the State Department set off a diplomatic storm by saying "in the government itself there has been infiltration." No details were given.

Campos did not deny Red infiltration of his government, but said there is no infiltration extensive enough to influence "in any way Brazilian government policies."

"All democracies and open societies are occasionally exposed to infiltration," he said, "and if my recollection is correct, there are a good many people who believe — with considerable exaggeration I'm sure — that the U.S. government also suffers from infiltration. Certainly the same has been said and can be said of some Western European governments."

Issue Simmers Down

The ambassador indicated to newsmen after his talk of nearly an hour with Ball that the issue is now simmering down. The State Department, with no desire to fan the controversy, declined public comment.

Campos said Brazil's finance minister, Francisco San Tiago Dantas, will continue his mission to get more U.S. help for Brazil's troubled economy.

Seek $84 Million

Campos, State Department authorities and a House Foreign Affairs Committee spokesman agreed that the timing of last week's U.S. statement with Dantas' mission was "purely coincidental." The State Department testimony was released under regular procedures for the committee hearings, it was explained.

U.S. authorities expect Dantas will see President Kennedy here after the President returns from Costa Rica. The Brazilians want more than $84 million in credits Washington wants Brazil to adopt sounder financial policies.

French Labor Strife Spreads

PARIS (UPI) — Thousands of striking miners marched Monday on Grenoble in southeast France and Saint Etienne in France's southern mountains to protest President Charles de Gaulle's wage-freezing austerity program. French authorities said 10,000 miners moved into Grenoble and staged a noisy demonstration in front of the labor exchange. Another 10,000 demonstrated at the Saint Etienne city hall. Heavy police guards stood by in both cities and no violence was reported.

The strike movement threatened to spread to millions of French workers. Informed sources said the government now is of the opinion that wage concessions are inevitable.

4 Red Planes Are 'Escorted' Over Carrier

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Russian aircraft flew over the U.S. aircraft carrier Constellation in the Western Pacific two days ago, the Defense Department announced Monday.

U.S. Navy reconnaissance and fighter planes intercepted the four Russian craft about 100 miles from the ship and escorted them "during a total of nine individual passes over the carrier," the Pentagon said.

The Soviet planes were of a type known as ears, normally classified as bombers but used also for reconnaissance. They were detected by radar more than 200 miles from the carrier.

The Constellation was about 600 miles southwest of Midway en route from Pearl Harbor to Subic Bay in the Philippines.

The overflight was on Saturday — the same day the United States was protesting the penetration by two Soviet reconnaissance planes over southwestern Alaska on Thursday.

More than two weeks ago Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara disclosed the first known flights by Russian reconnaissance planes over U.S. carriers — one off the Azores and others in the North Atlantic and North Pacific.

Episcopal Church Leader Afflicted

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, spiritual leader of the nation's 3.5 million Episcopalians, has disclosed that he has Parkinson's disease.

But the 63-year-old supporter of church unity said he will try to carry on as the church's presiding bishop at least until the general convention of 1964.

Bankers Urging $4.5 Billion Budget Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Bankers Association on Monday urged Congress to force President Kennedy to cut $4.5 billion from his record proposed $98.8 billion spending budget as the price for the tax cut he wants.

The bankers insisted Congress could do this by:

—Decreasing that federal spending in the next fiscal year to the level estimated for the current fiscal year starting July 1, regardless of appropriations made available by Congress in current or prior years.

—Attaching a spending ceiling to the tax-cutting bill as a "rider" so the administration would have to accept it or do without a tax cut.

The proposal, designed to hold spending in the next fiscal year at the level estimated for the current fiscal year, was presented to the House Ways & Means Committee by Dr. Charles E. Walker, executive vice president of the Bankers Association.

Walker said the association had "reluctantly" concluded that Congress should forego an economy-stimulating tax cut unless it could find a way to eliminate the spending increases the president budgeted.

The alternative, Walker said, would be a budget deficit of $15 billion or more, surpassing the $11.9 billion envisioned by the administration.

Hot Weather!

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Lifeguards pulled 146 swimmers from the sea as thousands jammed Rio's beaches Sunday in search of relief from a blistering sun which sent temperatures past 100 degrees. No one drowned.

However, no spokesman for the group could be located immediately to confirm the information.

Exile sources said the raiders radioed back minutes after the attack that it had been a success.

According to the reports, the crew of one commando boat attacked a Russian military camp near the port and it was reported that "there were dead and wounded."

It was not immediately clear whether the raiders in this vessel went ashore or remained aboard the boat while shelling the camp. The second attack, carried out simultaneously in the harbor, was against a Russian ship that was loading.

NEW YORK (AP) — The 3,000 striking New York printers were confronted Monday with the prospect of going it alone in any continuation of the city's 101-day newspaper blackout. Their own international union threatened to pull the rug out from under them.

The printers Sunday overrode their leadership and rejected a $12.53 a week settlement proposal agreed to by publishers of eight major New York dailies. They voted in effect to continue their strike until they got more.

Elmer Brown, president of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union, said serious consideration was being given to halting financial support to striking New York Local 6 unless the vote were reversed.

Decision Is Made

The decision already has been made as to whether to withdraw financial support, Brown added, but will not be announced for a few days.

Local 6 leaders late in the day set up new negotiations with the publishers.

Brown called the $12.53 contract proposal "a fair and reasonable one which should have been accepted by the membership."

Big Responsibility

"We have a responsibility to 100,000 printers who are paying a strike assessment of 4 per cent of their wages. Many are taking less in take-home pay than the strikers are receiving from combination of strike benefits and unemployment insurance. Pressure is mounting daily," Brown said.

On another front, Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild, suggested printers' strike benefits be halted and the strikers told: "Okay boys, go it alone, if that is what you wish."

20,000 Are Idle

Some 6,000 Guild members in editorial and business offices of the closed papers have been idle since the printers struck four of the city's nine major dailies. The other five immediately closed voluntarily, although one of them, the New York Post, resumed publication March 4.

Cuban Exiles Shell Russian Freighter

MIAMI (UPI) — A Russian freighter in a northern Cuban coastal port was attacked by Cuban exile sea raiders firing cannon early Monday morning while another raiding party shelled a Russian military camp nearby, authoritative refugee sources said here late Monday night.

The twin attacks, carried out at the Port of Sagua La Grande, caused "considerable damage" and apparently left a number of Russian dead and wounded, according to the informants here.

There was no immediate official confirmation but a garbled broadcast by Havana Radio, monitored here, mentioned something about "a Russian boat" and said "several wounded men were taken to Havana."

Sagua La Grande is located on the northern coast of Las Villas Province, about 28 miles from Santa Clara, a favorite target area for a handful of previous sea raids against the Castro regime.

Informants said the attack was staged by an organization known as the "Second Escambray Front—Alpha 66."

However, no spokesman for the group could be located immediately to confirm the information.

Exile sources said the raiders radioed back minutes after the attack that it had been a success.

According to the reports, the crew of one commando boat attacked a Russian military camp near the port and it was reported that "there were dead and wounded."

It was not immediately clear whether the raiders in this vessel went ashore or remained aboard the boat while shelling the camp.

Freeze Diminishes Floods In East; Hail Hits Missouri

By United Press International

A heavy hail storm brought snowplows into action in northwest Missouri Monday and a freeze helped stem flood waters in the East.

Turbulent weather pushing eastward ahead of Rocky Mountain snows dumped up to three inches of hail north of St. Joseph, Mo., and raised a tornado alert in southwestern Missouri.

The hail was so heavy that it made some highways impassable and the Missouri highway department sent plows onto heavily traveled U.S. 71 and at least one secondary route to clear the pavement.

Threats Diminished

The Federal State Flood Forecasting Service in Pittsburgh said the Allegheny River eased with the slow-breakup of one of the worst ice gorges in history.

An ice gorge at Brady's Bend, 12 miles north of Kittanning, Pa., broke up Sunday night and was "working its way out," river observers said. The crisis appeared over at Meadville, Pa., where French Creek crested and fell back. Civil Defense workers had alerted 300 families to be ready to move out of their homes if the creek continued to rise.

Snow fell over a wide belt of the Rockies and the intermountain plateau. Six inches of snow blanketed Bryce Canyon National Park in southern Utah and four inches hit Flagstaff, Ariz.

Forecasters warned snow accumulations might be heavy in some parts of the central Rockies.

Pope John Falls, Escapes Injury

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII stumbled and fell forward on the steps of his throne during a mass audience Monday but he was not injured.

The 81-year-old Pontiff was mounting the steps to his throne Sunday when he stumbled on the seventh and last step and fell heavily on his stomach.

An "oh" of dismay rose from the audience as half a dozen aides including Chamber Master Msgr. Mario Nasalli Rocca and Papal Sacristan Msgr. Peter Canisius Van Lierde rushed to his side and helped him to his feet. There was applause when he got up.

50-Star Flag To Be Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted Monday to make the 50-star flag official.

It sent to the Senate a bill to eliminate an ambiguity in present law which expressly provides for 48 stars. The measure also would give legal recognition to a 1959 presidential order proclaiming the design of new flags after admission of Alaska and Hawaii to statehood.

Crowds Turn Arrival Into Noisy Fiesta

Kennedy Says
Castro's Cuba
To Be Isolated

By MORRIS W. ROSENBERG

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — President Kennedy pledged Monday night to isolate Castro's Cuba and bar the infiltration of Communist agents into the rest of the Americas.

"We will build a wall around Cuba—not a wall of mortar or brick or barbed wire but a wall of dedicated men determined to protect their own freedom and sovereignty," he declared.

On the heels of what security officials called the greatest welcoming ovation in Costa Rica's history, Kennedy opened his three day meeting with the presidents of six Latin American nations vowing "fierce and unyielding resistance" to the spread of "foreign tyranny" in the Western Hemisphere.

"The Soviet Union through its Cuban puppets absorbed the Cuban nation into its despotic empire—and it now seeks to extend its rule to the shores of continental America," Kennedy said.

"At the Organization of American States, at this meeting and wherever Americans gather to consult about the future of their continent, we will continue to strengthen the structure of resistance to subversion."

Avowed Castro Foes

Kennedy addressed the presidents of Panama, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Honduras and Guatemala—all avowed enemies of Fidel Castro and targets of his subversion—after receiving a rapturous welcome from an estimated 200,000 people. Costa Ricans swept security officials aside and broke up a presidential procession in an air of fiesta.

Speaking in Costa Rica's ornate national theater, Kennedy defined the goals of the San Jose conference as "the preservation of our independence, the extension of freedom and the elevation of the welfare of our citizens to a level as high as we can attain."

"With the help of dedicated and brave men, we will ultimately triumph over aggressors of today. Democracy rules in most of our lands and it will ultimately prevail over the last vestiges of tyranny in every land in this hemisphere," he said.

Pledges U. S. Aid

Kennedy pledged continued U.S. aid toward a developing Central American economic community of 13 million people and congratulated the Central American countries on long-range economic vision.

He referred to the budding Central American Common Market made up of Costa Rica, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras and Nicaragua which hopes to break down trade barriers among themselves by 1966 and set up a common tariff wall. Panama has been invited to join, but that nation identifies itself more with South America than Central America.

Kennedy pointed out that almost $250 million has been committed under the Alliance for Progress to strengthen economies and raise living standards in Panama and the five Central American republics.

Mentions Coffee Prices

Citing the worldwide agreement to stabilize world coffee prices, vital source of Central America's revenue, Kennedy said the U. S. government is also willing to move ahead on agreements stabilizing the prices of other commodities.

The crowds that greeted Kennedy on his arrival were so thick that thousands of people were forced into side streets and unable to catch a glimpse of him.

His hair covered with confetti, Kennedy waved back to the cheering crowds that repeatedly broke through police lines and pressed round his black limousine. Mixed with the confetti was ash from a nearby volcano eruption last week but he didn't seem to mind.

Carefully laid security plans were swept away by the uncontrollable enthusiasm of the crowd. So thick was the press of people along the line of march that cars carrying other visiting presidents were separated from Kennedy's limousine.

The air was filled with colored balloons and confetti as Kennedy rode through the heart of the capital standing in the open black limousine with his host, President Francisco J. Orlich of Costa Rica. Central Avenue, the parade

Hoffa Charges Labor Facing Grave Crisis

DENVER (UPI) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa charged Monday the labor movement faces the greatest crisis of its history because of the ineffectiveness of the AFL-CIO and assaults by Congress, news media and a "conspiracy" by the Kennedy administration.

Hoffa made the charges in a keynote address to cheering delegates at the 58th convention of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

"I accuse those in power today of being strikebreakers," Hoffa said in a blistering, hour-long, off the cuff speech.

He charged Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy with "a conspiracy... to create a gestapo of 76 police agents, 23 prosecutors and 32 grand jurors to try to break down the largest union in the United States."

Hoffa singled out by name three members of Congress — Sens. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and John Mc Clellan, D-Ark., and Rep. David Martin, R-Neb. Any of three bills they had introduced, he said, would "destroy every union in America."

Hoffa said "stupid newspapers" and other news media were disseminating propaganda to convince the public that strikes must be prevented to save the nation.

Supreme Court Rules Out Unit Vote System

Georgia Case Decided By 8-1 Opinion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court took another step Monday toward equalizing the ballot power of city voters with that of their country cousins.

It laid down in an 8-1 decision a "one voter, one vote" rule for statewide elections.

Out the window with it went Georgia's county unit system for nominating candidates for U. S. senator and state and judicial officers responsible to a statewide constituency. The system was used at times also in congressional elections.

It left on the hook ready for killing in another legal action Maryland's county unit plan.

Maryland is the only other state having a plan similar to Georgia's.

County Unit Vote

Under the Georgia system the candidate winning a majority or plurality of a county's popular vote got all its unit votes. No county had less than two units and none more than six. Thus it was possible for a candidate to poll a popular-vote majority statewide but still lose in the unit tally.

The ruling apparently had been widely expected among Georgia politicians because it had been foreshadowed by a 1960 decision of a special three-judge federal court which forced conduct of last year's Democratic primary on a popular-vote basis.

Defense Attorneys

In another decision, the Supreme Court ruled unanimously that states must provide defense attorneys in criminal trials of persons who cannot afford to hire lawyers.

In another case affecting prisoners' rights, the court held unanimously that drug-induced confessions are inadmissible as evidence, thus striking at the use of so-called truth serums on accused persons.

The county-unit decision, written by Justice William O. Douglas, was the court's first involving voter rights since a landmark case from Tennessee which was decided last March 26. In that case the court said federal judges have the right to review state legislative apportionment to determine whether invidious discrimination is involved against city and suburban voters.

Apportionment

Legislative apportionment was not involved in the Georgia case and this fact was stressed by Justice Potter Stewart in a concurring opinion in which Justice Tom C. Clark joined.

The legislative apportionment has brought a wave of litigation, but the Supreme Court has still not laid down any fixed guidelines for parceling out state legislative seats.

Several legislative apportionment cases are pending before the court. The court has not announced when they will be heard.

The Georgia case gave Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy a perfect record as a courtroom lawyer. It was the first case he had ever argued in a courtroom and his appearance attracted a large audience of Kennedys, including Jacqueline, the President's wife. Ethel Kennedy, the attorney general's wife, was on hand Monday to hear the decision read.

Justice John M. Harlan was the lone dissenter.

route, was a gaily colored sea of flags and bunting.

Police raced behind the Kennedy limousine and pleaded with laughing Costa Ricans to clear the streets and allow the rest of the official parade to pass.

But it was useless. The cars carrying the other presidents arrived at the presidential residence 20 minutes behind Kennedy and Orlich.

Orlich welcomed Kennedy at the airport as a man who carries "the responsibility of the free world." Kennedy then spoke of the Alliance for Progress and of the reasons that brought him across the turbulent Caribbean from the United States.

Kennedy said the seven chief executives had assembled under the Alliance for Progress "to strengthen our defenses against the forces of foreign imperialism."

The meeting is aimed at blunting the spearhead of Communist subversion in this critical area by speeding economic progress and political liberty. With Costa Rica as host, Kennedy meets with the presidents of Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Panama.

"We seek not the subjugation of new lands but the freedom of our old republics," Kennedy declared, "not enslavement of strange peoples but the conquest of familiar enemies of poverty and injustice—not the accumulation of gold for a few, but in search of a better way of life for all our peoples."

U.S. Decision Could Apply To Maryland

BALTIMORE (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan expressed caution Monday about the effect in Maryland of the Supreme Court striking down Georgia's county-unit system of nominating statewide political candidates.

"Until such time as we read the full text of the court's opinion we cannot conclusively state its effect in Maryland," Finan said in a statement.

"But it would appear from press reports that the Supreme Court in the Georgia case indicates that no state may use other than a popular vote in nominating and electing statewide officials."

"Until such time as we receive the full text of the opinion, we cannot state what changes if any will be required in the election laws of this state."

May Apply To Maryland

The Supreme Court acted the same day that Finan and the Maryland Committee for Fair Representation agreed to wait for the Georgia ruling before going ahead with two Maryland cases now in U.S. District Court.

In a stipulation they filed in U.S. District Court Monday Finan and Alfred L. Scanlan, representing the committee, said a decision in the Georgia case probably would determine the issues in Maryland.

The stipulation permitted the attorney general to wait until 15 days after the Supreme Court ruling to answer the suit which the committee filed challenging Maryland's unit rule.

Told of the Supreme Court ruling, Scanlan said: "It would be my point of view that the stipulation takes effect if the opinion is as it appears to be from news accounts."

Would File Answer

"I would assume the attorney general would then file an answer admitting the allegations of our complaint. Then we would seek an order from the three-judge court asking such relief as may be necessary."

Maryland has nominated statewide candidates in primary elections since 1910 on the basis of distribution of legislative seats. Each county or Baltimore City legislative district has the same number of votes that it has seats in the 171-member General Assembly.

Thus here, as in Georgia, a candidate carrying a county or city unit by even one popular vote receives all of its unit votes at the state convention.

Favors Small Counties

Maryland's system has been heavily weighted in favor of the small counties, which control the majority of the seats in the legislature out of proportion to their population.

During the current 90-day legislative session in Annapolis, a bill to repeal Maryland's unit rule was approved by the House of Delegates 122-9. It also came within one step of enactment in the senate, winning 20-9 on second reading, before small-county senators changed their minds and defeated it by two votes.

Del. J. Glenn Beall Jr., R-Allegany, house minority leader, said on the house floor Monday, "To many of us, it was upsetting that the judicial legislative branch was forced to take action in a field properly the function of the legislature."

Referring to the Senate action, Beall commented, "But in this case, the house is to be congratulated. It took action. If there is any consolation, we're (delegates) only half embarrassed."

The committee, on its part, agreed that it would dismiss its court suit if the Supreme Court upheld the Georgia unit rule.

Scanlan said it would not be necessary for the matter to be pursued further in federal court unless and until some election official tried to apply the rule in Maryland.

"But," he said, "it would be a much tidier practice for the legislature to go ahead and repeal the Maryland law."

Man Convicted Of Murder To Get New Trial

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Leonard B. Hall Jr., of Keansburg, N.J., sentenced to death in the stabbing of an Essex woman in 1959, was taken to Baltimore County Jail Monday to await a new trial.

Judge W. Albert Menchine signed an order in Towson Circuit Court securing Hall's return to the county from the state penitentiary. The Fourth U.S. Court of Appeals, sitting at Alexandria, Va., ordered Jan. 17 that the 26-year-old Hall be retried or released.

Hall had been convicted of stabbing Mrs. Anna B. Gaff, 66, in her tavern. Hall's attorney, William F. Mosner, contended that Hall was convicted on evidence illegally obtained by police.

Mosner held that the police searched Hall's hotel room illegally after his arrest. The Appeals Court ruled that the evidence was inadmissible.

Robert F. Sweeney, assistant attorney general of Maryland, said the ruling might affect up to 25 states, which before the ruling had admitted illegally seized evidence in felony cases.

Supreme Court Rules Out Unit Vote System

Georgia Case Decided By 8-1 Opinion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court took another step Monday toward equalizing the ballot power of city voters with that of their country cousins.

It laid down in an 8-1 decision a "one voter, one vote" rule for statewide elections.

Out the window with it went Georgia's county unit system for nominating candidates for U. S. senator and state and judicial officers responsible to a statewide constituency. The system was used at times also in congressional elections.

County Unit Vote

Under the Georgia system the candidate winning a majority or plurality of a county's popular vote got all its unit votes. No county had less than two units and none more than six. Thus it was possible for a candidate to poll a popular-vote majority statewide but still lose in the unit tally.

The ruling apparently had been widely expected among Georgia politicians because it had been foreshadowed by a 1960 decision of a special three-judge federal court which forced conduct of last year's Democratic primary on a popular-vote basis.

Defense Attorneys

In another decision, the Supreme Court ruled unanimously that states must provide defense attorneys in criminal trials of persons who cannot afford to hire lawyers.

Baptist Bible School Clinics Are Scheduled

Two vacation Bible school clinics will be held in this district to prepare workers for the annual schools this summer, said Rev. B. Finney Bragg, Bible school superintendent of the Western Baptist Association.

He announced the first of two clinics will be held at First Baptist Church, Bedford Street, on Thursday. The other clinic will be April 11 at the Deep Creek Baptist Church.

A seven-point program set up by the superintendent includes the election of a principal; election of departmental superintendents; enlistment of workers; all workers committed to attend one of the clinics; dates set for teachers training classes and workers enlisted to attend; dates set for faculty meetings and departmental book studies and planning meetings and the workers enlisted; and materials ordered and books in hands of teachers so that advanced planning may be made.

The agenda for the clinics will be registration at 9:45 a.m. and a period of song and devotion and introduction and statement of purposes of the clinic.

A period of learning the joint worship service will be followed by conference periods beginning at 10:35 a.m. and at 12:30 p.m.

Instructors will be Rev. Mr. Bragg, principals, pastors and general officers; Mrs. Ralph Michaels, nursery workers; Mrs. Clyde Runion, beginner workers; Mrs. B. F. Bragg, primary workers; Mrs. Howard Fazenbaker, junior workers and Rev. H. G. Laube, intermediate workers.

A lunch period will be held at 11:30 a.m. and adjournment is planned for 2:30 p.m.

Scout District Roundtable Tonight

Nemacolin Trail District will hold a Boy Scout Roundtable today at 7:15 p.m. at Cresaptown Methodist Church.

The program will include a talk by Walter Maxey on "What's New In Scouting," followed by a demonstration of canvas craft.

Joseph Early, scout executive, will review the recent first aid contest, and William Macy will close the meeting with a short talk. Refreshments will be served by the host, Troop 9.

Va. Driver Hurt Near Breezewood

A Virginia man was hospitalized yesterday morning when a tractor-trailer he was operating left Pennsylvania Route 30 near Breezewood and plunged over an embankment, causing about $12,000 damage to the vehicle and cargo.

Donald Lee Meredith of Radford, Va., was taken to Bedford County Memorial Hospital and his condition was reported as "fair" last night.

The 29-year-old driver sustained lacerations and contusions. Police said the tractor-trailer apparently was headed west on the highway and left the road and plunged over the embankment about 7 a.m., four-tenths of a mile west of Breezewood.

They predicted that the new process may some day replace both the sheet and the plate production systems now in use, but said they expected both types of glass making to remain in the picture for many years to come.

Officials of PPG also confirmed a report in yesterday's Wall Street Journal that the company is considering installing its second float process production line at its present plate glass plant at Crystal City, Mo.

The company spokesman declined to reveal certain technical information about the new process because PPG's licensing agreement with Pilkington is not exclusive and competitors which might also acquire licenses could benefit from PPG's research.

They also declined to estimate the cost of the new facility at Works 7, other than to say it will cost "many millions of dollars."

Senate Backs Bill To Legalize Interest Discounting

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland Senate acted Monday to make it legally clear that banks may continue their practice of adding interest in advance to a loan.

They passed to the house a bill stating such discounting was not in violation of the state's usury laws. Legal doubt over the procedure has existed for years. The attorney general said in 1957 that it might be usurious under one section of the laws, but exempted under another.

The way it works, a bank lending $100 adds $6 to the total—equivalent to the legal maximum interest of 6 per cent a year. The borrower receives $100, and pays back $106 in 12 equal installments.

House May Act

The house is on the verge of passing a relative interest bill. It would require that all other fees or service charges in addition to interest be computed as such.

If it were done, many loans could be in violation of the legal maximum of 6 per cent, including those in violation of the legal maximum of 6 per cent, including those insured by the Federal Housing Authority and Veterans Administration.

Peace Corps Exam Set

An examination for persons interested in joining the Peace Corps will be held Saturday at 8:30 a.m. in Room 331, Post Office Building.

Is Named To Board

The Mayor and Council yesterday appointed Robert P. Keech, 203 Wempe Drive, to a three-year term on the Board of Zoning Appeals.

The federally insured loans allow other interest rates of 5 1/2 per cent. In addition, "service charges" equivalent to one half of 1 per cent are allowed for loans and mortgages less than $8,000.

The attorney general in 1960, in another opinion for the deputy bank commissioner, held this could make the FHA loans usurious.

A bill introduced this session to raise the state's maximum legal interest rate to 8 per cent received an unfavorable senate committee vote. There is a chance it may be revived.

Meanwhile, the senate put off until Tuesday a second vote on whether the state should impose ceilings on the amounts retail stores may charge customers who buy on time or credit.

May Reconsider
The thorn in the proposal by retailers is a monthly interest rate of 1 1/2 per cent on continuing charge accounts up to $1,000 and 1 per cent on higher balances. Opposing senators feel the equivalent annual rates of 18 and 12 are too far out of line with the state's 6 per cent on loans of money.

The senate voted 17-10 a couple of weeks ago against the rates. They agreed to reconsider so the banking committee could try for a compromise.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Being "Cool" Is Good Teen Advice

Teen-agers may find the adult habit of giving profound advice (and a great deal of it is contradictory, confusing, or useless) one of life's sorer burdens.

It may be hard to believe, but most of it is prompted by deep affection (as you may have grown to realize that some of those childhood spankings really WERE for your own good!) While we observe youth "being wasted on young people," it saddens us older fogies to see how often you take the wrong things too seriously.

A charming woman of my acquaintance is enjoying her daughter's early teen years. She tells—with a rueful mixture of sympathy and exasperation—of the many morning minutes spent on the hair problem. "It's either terrific or terrible; it makes or breaks at least her whole morning—and do you know, most days the only way I can tell the difference is by the expression on her face when she finally emerges to face the world!"

We greatly admire—and hope to help—the young lady who wishes to make the most of her natural resources. Building good grooming and beauty habits as you grow will be of life-long benefit.

But there are built-in teen-age hazards. You CAN, and often do, put too much stress on physical attractiveness, at the high cost of failing to recognize other beauties. You can forget that people see you as a whole, not as a few small parts like that wispy lock of hair, unsatisfactory cuticle, or even that enormous blemish right on the tip of your nose. Not only adults, but the other kids, are aware that disasters happen to the best of us—and will be glad to overlook them if only YOU will!

You can't help having strong feelings, and you should know that most of the people your age experience the same doubts, hopes, fears and so on. If others seem to be handling them better, it may be that they're learning to turn their stronger emotions away from self-concern toward better channels. How you make out depends on the size and shape of your ambitions—not your nose!

A calm and constructive approach to beauty and personality problems has its place in such a scheme of things. That's why I recommend a pamphlet on teen-age foodlore—"Personality Plus Through Diet"—available from this newspaper on your request to me, John Robert Powers, accompanied by 25c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The meeting of the Maryland Hairdressers Association will be held in the Alexander Hotel, Hagerstown, March 23 and 24. Mrs. Virginia Nave, president of the Allegany Unit, is state historian; and Mrs. Catherine Welton, state liaison officer.

All officers and liaison officers will meet at 8 o'clock Saturday. Examinations for the state style body will be given at 10:30 a. m. Sunday. In the afternoon the Maryland Style Body will present the new "bell" hairdo styles for spring and summer.

All members are urged to attend. Reservations for luncheon are to be made with Miss Mary Belle Hoffman, 20 East Washington Street, Hagerstown.

The next meeting of the Allegany Unit will be April 8.

When he attempted to cash the king of diamonds, East administered a rude jolt by trumping with his last heart. Declarer lacked sufficient entries to successfully establish the diamond suit, and he wound up suffering a two trick set.

It would have availed South little to pull the last trump for, with the bad diamond break, he lacks the necessary transportation to the North hand to run the diamonds after they are established.

In order to make the contract, declarer must resort to a safety play in the diamond suit. West's opening lead in a suit rebid by the dummy should alert declarer to the possibility that someone is short. He can protect his high cards only by leading a small diamond from the North hand at trick two. True, this concedes a trick that may not have to be lost, but it assures the contract provided that trumps do not break badly, too.

Suppose that West is allowed to win the second diamond. His best defense is to shift to a club to force the dummy. South can now establish the diamonds by ruffing a small one with a high trump. Hearts are drawn with three pulls ending up in the North hand, and the king of diamonds snares West's jack. The diamonds are run and South has only to concede one spade at the end for the third and last defensive trick.

District 3, Convention Chairmen Appointed

Chairmen for the district convention were appointed by Mrs. Chloe Reynolds at the meeting of Group 5 Opposes Two Bills

Planning Group 5 of the Allegany County Farm Bureau opposed the bill for an electrical control board and the one for sick benefits for teachers at the meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Delbrook, Ellerslie.

Announcement was made by Vernon Loar, Farm Bureau president, of the spring dinner to be held April 18 at North Branch fire hall, with the auxiliary serving. Rankin Lusby, from the state office, was a guest. He discussed wheat allotments and seeding, reactivating old planning groups and forming new ones.

The April 4 meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loar, Vale Summit.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Arch Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Brode, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harvey, Ivan Wilson and Mrs. Loar.

Society Donates To Fund

The WSCS of Fairview Avenue Church voted to place $500 in the kitchen repairs fund and selected a committee to buy dishes for the church. It consists of Mrs. Vallie Welker, Mrs. Amelia Miller, Mrs. Bertha Nies, Mrs. Harold Hawkins and Mrs. Gladys Baker.

Miss Evelyn Kinsinger, missionary nurse home from Brazil, explained her work and illustrated it with slides. Harold Hawkins operated the projector. Mrs. Baker presided and Mrs. Hawkins read a letter from Miss Doris Evans missionary in Morocco. It was announced that Rev. William Sansom will have an instruction class. The society will purchase the Bibles.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Ruth Malone. Others present were Mrs. Myrtle Zimmerman, Mrs. Chloe Lederer, Mrs. Faye Mawhinney, Mrs. Minola Baker, Mrs. Betty Dawson, Mrs. Vance Markwood, Mrs. Miriam Webster and Mrs. Marylouise Wilson.

District 3, Ladies Auxiliary of the VFW, held Sunday at Mount Savage. Mrs. Lillian Zimmerman, Cumberland, was named convention chairman; Miss Lenora Powers, Lonaconing, installing officer; Mrs. Marguerite Lashley, Mt. Savage, registration; and Mrs. Mary T. Moore, Cumberland, chairman for the white elephant sale. The convention will be held May 5 in Lonaconing.

Plans were discussed for the District 3 hospital party to Newton Baker VA Center May 12. All five auxiliaries of the district are asked to send donations. The Kackle and Krow group from Baltimore will present the program. The party will be under the supervision of Mrs. Julia Risler, Hagerstown.

Henry Hart Auxiliary has almost $1,000 work credit at the VA Center. Mrs. Rosalie Sites, city, reported. Miss Powers reported on the cancer work accomplished by the district; Mrs. Betty Holsey reported on sick cards sent; and Mrs. Mary McGowan, president of the Lonaconing auxiliary, reported on the accomplishments of her group.

Draping of the charter was held for Mrs. Mina C. Fisher, past department president who died in January. A memorial service was conducted for all deceased members of the district.

The prize for the afternoon was won by Mrs. Rose Marie Grove. Refreshments were served by the Mt. Savage Auxiliary, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Helene Hotchkiss. The St. Patrick's Day theme was used. There were 35 women attending from Henry Hart, Mt. Savage and Lonaconing units.

Service To Be Held

A World Day of Prayer service will be held tonight during the regular church meeting at Park Place Methodist Church. Rev. Melvin D. Hughson will be the speaker.

The first of four sessions of the study of "Dimensions of Prayer" will be conducted by Mrs. M. D. Hughson tomorrow at 1 p.m. at the church. They will continue for four consecutive Wednesdays. Rev. Carlton M. Harris introduced the study course at the March meeting, conducted by Mrs. Bruce Bower. Mrs. Herbert Cessa led the devotions with the "Praying Hands" and a plan symbolizing prayer and life.

Announcement was made of the Frances Morgan zone meeting April 3 at Park Place and the Asbury Guild meeting at Ridgeley. A social followed and refreshments were served. The Irish motif was used. Mrs. Walter Derlan was chairman, assisted by Mrs. Floyd Elliott and Mrs. Julian Driver.

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Siever, 112 South Centre Street, returned Saturday from McAlester, Okla. They also visited their daughters and families in Corpus Christi, Texas.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Being "Cool" Is Good Teen Advice

Teen-agers may find the adult habit of giving profound advice (and a great deal of it is contradictory, confusing, or useless) one of life's sorer burdens.

It may be hard to believe, but most of it is prompted by deep affection (as you may have grown to realize that some of those childhood spankings really WERE for your own good!) While we observe youth "being wasted on young people," it saddens us older folks to see how often you take the wrong things too seriously.

A charming woman of my acquaintance is enjoying her daughter's early teen years. She tells—with a rueful mixture of sympathy and exasperation—of the many morning minutes spent on the hair problem. "It's either terrific or terrible; it makes or breaks at least her whole morning—and you know, most days the only way I can tell the difference is the expression on her face when she finally emerges to face the world!"

We greatly admire—and hope to help—the young lady who wishes to make the most of her natural resources. Building good grooming and beauty habits as you grow will be of life-long benefit.

But there are built-in teen-age hazards. You CAN, and often do, put too much stress on physical attractiveness, at the high cost of failing to recognize other beauties. You can forget that people see you as a whole, not as a few small parts like that wispy lock of hair, unsatisfactory cuticle, or even that enormous blemish right on the tip of your nose. Not only adults, but the other kids, are aware that disasters happen to the best of us—and will be glad to overlook them if only YOU will!

You can't help having strong feelings, and you should know that most of the people your age experience the same doubts, hopes, fears and so on. If others seem to be handling them better, it may be that they're learning to turn their stronger emotions away from self-concern toward better channels. How you make out depends on the size and shape of your ambitions—not your nose!

A calm and constructive approach to beauty and personality problems has its place in such a scheme of things. That's why I recommend a pamphlet on teen-age faddism—"Personality Plus Through Diet"—available from this newspaper on your request to me, John Robert Powers, accompanied by 25c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

GOP Women Will Hear J. S. Getty

The meeting of the Women's Republican Club of Cumberland will be held at 7:45 tomorrow at the Woman's Civic Club house. Mrs. Holmes Cessa will preside.

Plans to have a caravan go to the open house to be given by Rev. Charles Mathias in his office in Washington on Saturday from 2 until 5 p.m., and to attend the spring conference of the Republican Women in Washington April 25-27, will be discussed.

James S. Getty, state attorney, will be guest speaker. He will discuss the Constitution.

Canada produces about 90 per cent of the nickel of the free world.

Jaynees Donate To Cancer Fund

The Jaynees voted $25 to the cancer fund at the meeting conducted by Mrs. William McKee at the Cumberland Country Club. Mrs. Richard Cover announced the Jaycee convention to be held in Frederick the first week in May and urged all to attend.

Reports were given. Mrs. William Creggan, civic chairman, reported the clothing altered for the girl club assisted last year and who now is in college on a scholarship. Mrs. Chris Lockard, on the Spring-O-Rama; and Mrs. Louis Spoerl introduced Mrs. Richard Welch, a new member.

Lambda Chapter, BSP Plans March 30 Dance

A dance for members and their husbands was planned at the meeting of Lambda Chapter, BSP conducted by Mrs. Lois Schaidt in the club rooms, North Mechanic Street. It will be held March 30 in the Bedford Road fire hall, beginning at 9 o'clock, and will take place of the social meeting.

Routine reports were given and City Council minutes were read. Tickets were distributed for the Cruise Ball April 20 and announcement was made of the convention in Baltimore, to be held May 15-16. Reservations are to be made with the president by the 13th. The reservations for the Spring Ritual April 24 at the Shrine Club are to be made by April 20. The next meeting of the chapter will be March 26 at the club house.

Two Local Men Are Injured In Auto Accidents

Two local men were hospitalized Sunday following separate accidents in nearby Bedford County, Pa.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital here was Robert Jones, 23, of Oldtown Road, who sustained an injury to his arm after being involved in a one-car mishap near Hyndman.

Admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital was Joseph L. Ritter, 61, of 677 Fayette Street, who was injured in a one-car crash on Pennsylvania Route 26, nine miles north of Everett.

Pennsylvania State Police said Jones was injured in a mishap about two miles west of Hyndman. He was operating a 1951 model car eastbound when he failed to negotiate a sharp turn. The vehicle left the roadway, rolled down an embankment and came to rest against a tree.

Edward L. Stonebreaker, 722 Maryland Avenue, a passenger in the Jones car, sustained minor injuries and was treated and released from the local hospital.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said Ritter's mishap occurred about 3 a. m. as he was operating a 1961 southbound car on Route 26. He failed to make a curve and struck a utility pole, police said. Approximately $400 property damage was caused, police added.

Ritter reportedly sustained possible fractured ribs on his right side and a laceration of his lower lip.

Man Criticizes School Officials

Robert Herboldsheimer, a frequent critic of the Board of Education and of Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners with a complaint.

Herboldsheimer told the commissioners that the Board of Education in presenting its budget request last week had stated that an improved salary scale for teachers would aid in recruiting teachers for the county school system.

He said that the county school officials do not acknowledge letters of application from prospective teachers and claimed that two Frostburg State Teachers College students who were graduated in the mid-term at January had written the board in the fall but had not received any answer to their communications.

Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon told Herboldsheimer, "You have a very good point."

American Thanksgivings were local on-and-off affairs until the American Revolution. First nationwide Thanksgiving was set aside as the last Thursday in November 1789 by George Washington.

Man Criticizes School Officials

Robert Herboldsheimer, a frequent critic of the Board of Education and of Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners with a complaint.

Herboldsheimer told the commissioners that the Board of Education in presenting its budget request last week had stated that an improved salary scale for teachers would aid in recruiting teachers for the county school system.

He said that the county school officials do not acknowledge letters of application from prospective teachers and claimed that two Frostburg State Teachers College students who were graduated in the mid-term at January had written the board in the fall but had not received any answer to their communications.

Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon told Herboldsheimer, "You have a very good point."

American Thanksgivings were local on-and-off affairs until the American Revolution. First nationwide Thanksgiving was set aside as the last Thursday in November 1789 by George Washington.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A short time ago a girl in the local high school had a baby out of wedlock. She was not wild or promiscuous. It was just a case of going too steadily and too seriously with the same boy.

This unfortunate girl has a younger sister who is a close friend of my daughter's. They belong to the same youth group. The group is having a dance in April and the girls must ask the boys.

The sister invited two boys and they both turned her down. They told her candidly they had nothing against her but their parents forbade them to go with her because of what happened to her sister.

The poor girl is heartsick. She has even considered quitting school. Do you see any justification whatever for the actions of the parents? I'm too involved to evaluate the situation properly. Please comment.—MRS. J. R.

DEAR MRS. J. R.: No justification whatsoever. The action of these parents is shocking. To punish an innocent girl for something her sister did is not only cruel but senseless. If this is the standard of justice the parents are setting for their sons I feel sorry for all of them.

DEAR ANN: My husband and I have been married six years. We drive a nice car, and have a pleasant apartment. George makes a good salary and so do I. I turn my check over to George every week. He handles all the money and pays all the bills. He gives me $5 a week for bus fare and lunches. We are in debt about $2,000 but all our payments are made on time and everything is under control.

If I bring home a toss cushion for the sofa he goes into a rage. He says, "That was not in our budget." If a sale on dresses comes along he says I can get along without a new dress. Yet he buys doudads for himself and doesn't think a thing of it. I hate to admit it, Ann, but I'm afraid to spend a cent.

What is your advice? — MRS. SCROOGE

DEAR MRS. SCROOGE: Five dollars a week is not enough for car fare and a decent lunch. And what happens if you tear a pair of hose?

Cash your own check and keep 25% of it to do with as you please. And instead of steaming silently why don't you replace the marshmallows in your spine with a little sterner stuff and discuss this openly with your husband? He is taking advantage of his wife's stupidity as well as her timidity.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For the past ten years my husband and I have taken our vacation in April. We've always gone to visit my parents who live in Vermont.

This year we are faced with a serious problem which involves our German shepherd who is just like a child to us. She is very gentle if people are nice to him. We have always taken him with us when we visited the folks.

For the last couple of years we've had a little problem because mom's housekeeper, Maggie, does not like her. Maggie said she bit her but there were only nip-marks on her leg and I would hardly consider it a bite. I'm sure Maggie must have kicked her or done something mean to him because he is very sweet.

Anyway mother wrote and said we are not to bring her with us this time. I feel it is very selfish of her to put her housekeeper's wishes before our dog.

Please tell me what we should do.—R. G.

DEAR R. G.: Your mother told you what to do. Leave her dog home.

Does almost everyone have a good time yet? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cub Pack 19 Holds Pine Wood Derby

Cub Pack 19, sponsored by West Side Elementary School, held its Pine Wood Derby Friday at the school.

Winners were Wayne Holly, first place, Tom Mattingly, second and Paul Eichhammer, third.

Eugene Steese, advancement chairman, awarded wolf badges and gold arrow points to Richard Twigg, Barry Gurley and Billy Resch.

Patrick Woods earned a bear badge and Paul Sents was awarded a bobcat patch.

Three Charged In Area Theft

Two teen-agers and a young man have been arrested in connection with the breaking and entering and theft of money and merchandise from a store in Zihlman.

The youths, a 15-year-old boy from Zihlman, and a 17-year-old boy from Frostburg, will be given a hearing tomorrow morning in Juvenile Court for breaking into Anderson's Store on March 12.

Edward P. Garlock, 20, also of Zihlman, will be tried at the same time for contributing to the delinquency of the two youths.

Authorities said the teen-agers allegedly forced a side window of the store and took $44 in cash and a quantity of merchandise.

Garlock was charged with taking part of the money from the two boys.

Garlock and the two boys were arrested by Tfc. Bernard J. Chabot, criminal investigator for the State Police, and County Investigator William F. Baker questioned them yesterday.

Beatty To Head Charities Unit

James E. Beatty, 646 Washington Street, yesterday was elected president of the Board of Directors of the Associated Charities.

Other officers, elected at the annual meeting held in City Hall, are:

Mrs. James A. Aivert, vice president; Samuel Wertheimer, treasurer; and Miss Doris Messman, secretary.

Homer S. Higgins, retiring president, was in charge of the session.

Business included reading of an audit of 1962 operations by Arthur C. Crum, the treasurer's report by Mr. Wertheimer and a discussion on services as shown in a statistical report of the agency last year.

In the absence of Mrs. Emma Everstine, Miss Messman read the report of the Nominating and Membership committees.

The emergency assistance agency is a member of the County United Fund.

VINCENT H. SCHUPFER

Vincent Henry Schupfer, 67, of 16 Queen City Pavement, died yesterday in Sacred Heart Hospital where he was admitted last Monday. He had been in ill health two weeks.

A native of this city he was a son of the late Joseph and Annie (Smith) Schupfer.

Mr. Schupfer was a member of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church and was a veteran of World War I.

Survivors include four brothers, William, Raymond and George Schupfer, all of Cumberland, and Henry Schupfer, Weston, W. Va., and a sister, Mrs. Roselia Cottom, city.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Requiem Mass will be celebrated Thursday at 9 a.m. in SS. Peter and Paul Church. Interment will be in the parish cemetery.

MRS. ARTHUR DUNHAM

DAVIS — Mrs. Bessie Pearl Dunham, 66, died yesterday at her home, Mt. Lake Park, after a long illness. Born in Aurora she was a daughter of the late Daniel and Laura (Harsh) Calhoun.

She was a member of Bethel Methodist Church, Mt. Lake Park.

Surviving are her husband, Arthur Dunham; two sons, Willard and Lewis Dunham, Mt. Lake Park; one daughter, Mrs. Alice Harvey, Deer Park; one brother, Charles Calhoun, Elmonte, Calif.; a half-brother, Charles Wotring, Aurora; two sisters, Mrs. Nora Henline, Crellin and Mrs. Ethel Helmick, Eglin; a half-sister, Mrs. Anna Henline, Aurora and six grandchildren.

The body is at the Spiggle Funeral Home, here.

House Approves

"It's a sin and a shame that such things came up on the floor of this house and before this body."

Del. Clarence M. Mitchell III, D-Balto 4th, was the delegate who told the house he had rejected a $300 bribe from a man he did not know. State Police were still investigating Mitchell's report Monday.

Del. John W. Hardwicke, D-Harford, who was absent last Wednesday because of the death of his father, criticized the press for listing him among the no's and not voting members who had previously voted with the governor.

Hardwicke called it "a perversion of the democratic process by the press... they uniformly castigated anyone not present to vote."

Hardwicke then voted for the bill.

Few Comments Made

The longest and bitterest speech was by Del. Gerald Siegel, D-Balto 5th, who had previously voted and spoken for slot machine abolition but was absent last Wednesday because of an eye operation.

He voted against the governor's bill Monday saying it was in reality a vote against the Baltimore Sunpapers and their handling of the slot machine issue. He said slot machines were evil but that the Sunpapers "have done an evil perhaps greater than to vote against the slot machines."

"I dare them to say my vote is a bought vote," he said.

He also sharply criticized those leaders and other members of the house who were also "indiscreet enough to cast aspersions" on the house floor against others.

Most of those voting for the bill had little or nothing to say on it.

JAMES T. RACEY

ROMNEY — James Tucker Racey, 87, died Sunday in Hampshire Memorial Hospital. Born in Virginia, he was a son of the late Landon and Hannah (Groves) Racey. He was a retired farmer.

Surviving are his wife, Dora (Burkett) Racey; three daughters, Mrs. Virginia M. Jewell, Keyser and Mrs. Katherine DeLong, Buckeye Lake, Ohio; three sons, James E. Racey, Hagerstown, Ala. Martin E. Racey, Langley AFB, Va., and Sp 5 Kenneth D. Racey, with Army in Germany; one sister, Mrs. Lydia McKee, Cumberland; two brothers, Elwood Racey, Cumberland and John Racey, Romney; 30 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren.

The body is at the Shaffer Funeral Home where friends will be received from 2 until 4 p.m. and 7 until 9 p.m.

A service will be conducted there Thursday at 2 p.m. by Rev. Anderson W. Phillips Jr. Interment will be in Ebenezer Cemetery.

BROWN SERVICE

FROSTBURG — A service for Mrs. A. H. Brown, who died Sunday, will be conducted today at 3 p.m. at the Dursel Funeral Home. Rev. Kenneth Morelock will officiate and interment will be in Frostburg Memorial Park.

Pallbearers will be Clifton Jeffries, John Dillon, John Ruge, James Sloan, Charles Day and John Fatkin.

KAMENS SERVICE

Services for Benjamin Maurice Kamens, 74, a partner in the Kline Furniture Company, Virginia Avenue, who died Sunday in Memorial Hospital, will be conducted today at 2 p.m. at the Stein Funeral Home.

Rabbi Max Selinger will officiate and interment will be in the East View Cemetery.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home.

New Discovery Now Makes It Possible To Shrink And Heal Hemorrhoids Without Surgery
Stops Itch—Relieves Pain In Minutes

New York, N. Y. (Special): A world-famous institute has discovered a new substance which has the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids without surgery. The sufferer first notices almost unbelievable relief in minutes from itching, burning and pain. Then this substance speeds up healing of the injured tissues all while it quickly reduces painful swelling.

Tests conducted under a doctor's observations proved this so—even in cases of 10 to 20 years' standing. The secret is the new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—now offered in both ointment or suppository form called Preparation H®.

In addition to actually shrinking piles—Preparation H lubricates and makes bowel movements less painful. It helps to prevent infection (a principal cause of hemorrhoids).

Only Preparation H contains this magic new substance which quickly helps heal injured cells back to normal and stimulates regrowth of healthy tissue again. Just ask for Preparation H Ointment or Preparation H Suppositories (easier to use away from home). Available at all drug counters.

economic welfare of the community by attracting tourists.

Every time the average number of visitors to a community is increased by about 24 per day, the community has the equivalent of a new "industry" with a payroll of over $100,000 per year.

This report deals with park and recreational needs of Allegany County people for the next 20 years or so and the best possibilities for developing outstanding attractions for tourists and sportsmen.

Selection of areas for recreational use must take into consideration such other aspects of the comprehensive county plan as the proposed road and highway system, the locations designated for further urban types of development including residential, industrial and the like, other existing and proposed public lands and facilities including schools, parks and forests as well as natural geographic features, historic places and other factors.

Mr. Renaud stresses that Allegany County has great potentialities for the development of extensive open spaces, parks, hunting and fishing areas, which have just barely been touched.

Members of the County Planning and Zoning Commission are James A. Perrin, chairman; Carl O. Belt, Ralph M. Race, Dr. Rudolph Steinberger and County Commissioner Robert Little Ebert.

Three Charged In Area Theft

Two teen-agers and a young man have been arrested in connection with the breaking and entering and theft of money and merchandise from a store in Zihlman.

The youths, a 15-year-old boy from Zihlman, and a 17-year-old boy from Frostburg, will be given a hearing tomorrow morning in Juvenile Court for breaking into Anderson's Store on March 12.

Edward P. Garlock, 20, also of Zihlman, will be tried at the same time for contributing to the delinquency of the two youths.

Authorities said the teen-agers allegedly forced a side window of the store and took $44 in cash and a quantity of merchandise. Garlock was charged with taking part of the money from the two boys.

Garlock and the two boys were arrested by Tfc. Bernard J. Chabot, criminal investigator for the State Police, and County Investigator William F. Baker questioned them yesterday.

House Approves

"It's a sin and a shame that such things came up on the floor of this house and before this body."

Del. Clarence M. Mitchell III, D-Balto 4th, was the delegate who told the house he had rejected a $300 bribe from a man he did not know. State Police were still investigating Mitchell's report Monday.

Del. John W. Hardwicke, D-Harford, who was absent last Wednesday because of the death of his father, criticized the press for listing him among the no's and not voting members who had previously voted with the governor.

Hardwicke called it "a perversion of the democratic process by the press. . . they uniformly castigated anyone not voted to vote."

Hardwicke then voted for the bill.

Few Comments Made

The longest and bitterest speech was by Del. Gerald Siegel, D-Balto 5th, who had previously voted and spoken for slot machine abolition but was absent last Wednesday because of an eye operation.

He voted against the governor's bill Monday saying it was in reality a vote against the Baltimore Sunpapers and their handling of the slot machine issue. He said slot machines were evil but that the Sunpapers "have done an evil perhaps greater than to vote against the slot machines."

"I dare them to say my vote is a bought vote," he said.

He also sharply criticized those leaders and other members of the house who were also "indiscreet enough to cast aspersions" on the house floor against others.

Most of those voting for the bill had little or nothing to say on it.

Keyser Priest To Help Prepare Synod Program

KEYSER—Rev. John J. O'Connell, pastor of the Church of the Assumption, has been named by Bishop John J. Russell to assist with preparatory work for the first diocesan synod to be held in the Diocese of Richmond since 1933. Also named were a former pastor and three previous assistants at the local church.

A synod is a meeting of priests of the diocese to formulate new statutes and revise present statutes for the government and discipline of the diocese. No definite date has been set but it will be held after the Second Vatican Council ends.

This will be the fourth synod in the history of the diocese. The last one was convoked in 1933 by the late Bishop Andrew Brennan. Among those named to help with the preparations were Very Rev. Eugene P. Walsh, V. F., former assistant at the Keyser church, as chairman of the committee on the laity.

The committee on the teaching authority of the church will include, in addition to Father O'Connell, Rev. John P. McMahon and Rev. John P. Hannan, both former assistant pastors here.

Rev. William D. McGonigle, a former pastor, has been named to the committee on the sacraments and sacred liturgy. In addition to the three groups mentioned above there will be a committee on the clergy and a committee on the temporal goods of the church.

Also playing principal roles in the planning sessions are Msgr. Carroll T. Dozier and Auxiliary Bishop Ernest L. Unterkoefer, who have previously participated in Religious Emphasis Week programs at Potomac State College. Announcement of the Synod was made at a meeting of the Central Preparatory Commission.

Body Discovered

FAYETTE CITY, Pa. (UPI)—The body of Harry Wilson, 49, missing from his Morgantown, W. Va., home since last December was discovered Sunday along a river near here. Authorities said the death was caused by accidental drowning.

Clean, Paint, Fix Up Drive Being Planned In Midland

MIDLAND—A "Clean Up, Paint Up Fix Up" campaign will be held in Midland next month, the dates and time to be announced later by the Mayor and Council. Local citizens are being urged to begin gathering up rubbish which might be in the homes or yards and have it ready to place on the sidewalk during the drive.

Richard Hawkins, town fire inspector, met with the town officials and reported that the local volunteer firemen will cooperate in eliminating health and fire hazards in the community. They will wash down Main Street as part of their program.

Richard M. Blair, town engineer, displayed a large map of Midland during the council meeting. It shows all corporate boundaries, lines, properties, streets, water and sewer lines.

Mr. Blair recommended that a survey be made of the corporate boundary lines to bring them up to date and suggests that all homes in the corporate limits be numbered. The map will be placed on the wall of the council chamber for property utility line references.

Council approved a $300 donation to the fire company to help defray expense of installing a fire siren at the intersection of Paradise Street and Dan's Rock Road.

John C. Sullivan, town attorney, was instructed to write to John D. Bushby, of the State Roads Commission, inviting him to a meeting of town officials in reference to making Main Street and Chestnut Street one way.

New proposals drawn up by the town engineer in favor of the plan, will be submitted to Mr. Bushby at the meeting.

The council approved placement of town garbage cans on Paradise Street near Burns Grocery Store. Also discussed at the meeting was the number of complaints received about stray dogs. The County Commissioners have been notified of the situation.

A survey of paved streets damaged during the winter snow will be made and repairs done next month, according to Street Commissioner Donald Cook, who said extensive sewer work should be done in the early Spring.

Robert Turner was commended by the mayor and council for the job he performed in snow removal work.

Homemakers Plan Meeting In April

ECKHART — The Eckhart Homemakers Club will meet on April 4 instead of April 11 at which time Mrs. Ora Myers will exhibit lap robes which will be made and presented to patients of the County Infirmary.

Miss Katherine Close presented a demonstration on food and cooking at a recent meeting in the home service room of the Potomac Edison Company. Food prizes were awarded to Katie Nelson, Mollie Dudley and Flo Lewis.

Beall Boosters Meeting Today

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Clara Mae Vogtman will preside at a meeting of the Beall High School Band Boosters Club today at 8 p.m. in the band room of the school.

A nominating committee will be appointed and will return a slate of officers for election at the May meeting.

JACK FISHER

To Present Recital At University

MT. STORM, W. Va. — The Department of Music of Taylor University, Upland, Ind. will present Jack Fisher in his senior piano recital on Friday at 8:15 p.m. Shreiner Auditorium.

He is a son of Mrs. Dodd Fisher of Mt. Storm and is a pupil of Professor Hilda L. Steyer, who is currently beginning work toward a Doctor of Philosophy in music theory.

During his elementary and high school years young Fisher received piano training at Potomac State College, Keyser, under Professor Leonard G. Withers, and has performed in a number of recitals.

While in high school he and Professor Withers were guest artists for the Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra during winter recitals in 1959.

Friday's recital will be in partial fulfillment of the requirements for a Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in music. Mr. Fisher who is also majoring in mathematics, has been on the dean's list throughout his college career, will graduate in June and plans to begin graduate work in September.

His recital will represent four periods: baroque, classical, romantic and 20th century music. Selections he will play will include the works of Bach, Beethoven, Liszt and Brahms.

Keyser Family Active In Scouting Program

KEYSER — Commemoration of National Boy Scout Week and Girl Scout Week is for some individuals, a special event. However, for the John P. Stephen family, 215 D Street Extended, scouting has become a year-round project.

All seven members of the family are engaged in the scouting program and represent a combined total of 33 years of service to their sponsoring organizations, the Potomac Council, and the community.

John Stephen, the father, has been leader of Scout Troop 37, sponsored by the Presbyterian Church, for two years. An employee of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, he is also on the committee of Troop 98, sponsored by the Church of the Assumption.

Mrs. Stephen, the former Miss Dorothy Hamill, of Keyser, is leader of Brownie Troop 72 and the Senior Girl Scout Troop 90, both sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Keyser. She has been a leader for the past three years but was a scout herself while attending schools in Keyser.

Katharine Ann, 16, is a senior scout marking her ninth year in the organization. In 1960 she became the first Keyser girl to achieve the Curved Bar Rank.

Jay, who is 13, is observing his sixth year as a scout and is a first class scout with Troop 37, sponsored by the Presbyterian Church.

Dorothy Lynn, 12, is an intermediate in her sixth year; Aleta Jean, 11, is an intermediate in her fourth year; and Nancy, 9, is marking her third year as a Brownie.

The Stephen family will have the distinction of having one girl represented in each of the four branches of girl scouting when the change comes in September to include the senior scouts, cadets, juniors, and brownies. Heretofore there have been only three branches of the program.

Time and again it has been repeated that "the family that prays together stays together." The

Lawyer Speaks To Kiwanians

KEYSER—"Buying Retirement with Tax-Free Dollars" was the topic of an address given to members of the Kiwanis Club at their regular weekly meeting by Atty. John F. Somerville Jr.

In his talk the attorney discussed the burden of additional taxes on the small business man, new laws aimed at helping him, the problems of self-employed persons; establishment of retirement plans, trust funds, mutual investments; the purchase of U. S. government bonds, and the proper procedure for withdrawals of these funds.

He was introduced by James T. Handian, program chairman, following announcements concerning inter-club meetings, a car wash to be sponsored by the Key Club, and the plans for the District Circle K. Convention at Potomac State College.

Guests at the meeting were John Clayton, manager of the Coffman-Fisher Company here, and Robert Jenkins, of the KHS Key Club.

Keyser Priest To Help Prepare Synod Program

KEYSER—Rev. John J. O'Connell, pastor of the Church of the Assumption, has been named by Bishop John J. Russell to assist with preparatory work for the first diocesan synod to be held in the Diocese of Richmond since 1933. Also named were a former pastor and three previous assistants at the local church.

A synod is a meeting of priests of the diocese to formulate new statutes and revise present statutes for the government and discipline of the diocese. No definite date has been set but it will be held after the Second Vatican Council ends.

This will be the fourth synod in the history of the diocese. The last one was convoked in 1933 by the late Bishop Andrew Brennan. Among those named to help with the preparations were Very Rev. Eugene P. Walsh, V. F., former assistant at the Keyser church, as chairman of the committee on the laity.

The committee on the teaching authority of the church will include, in addition to Father O'Connell, Rev. John F. McMahon and Rev. John P. Hannan, both former assistant pastors here.

Rev. William D. McGonigle, a former pastor, has been named to the committee on the sacraments and sacred liturgy. In addition to the three groups mentioned above there will be a committee on the clergy and a committee on the temporal goods of the church.

Also playing principal roles in the planning sessions are Msgr. Carroll T. Dozier and Auxiliary Bishop Ernest L. Unterkoefler, who have previously participated in Religious Emphasis Week programs at Potomac State College. Announcement of the Synod was made at a meeting of the Central Preparatory Commission.

JACK FISHER

To Present Recital At University

MT. STORM, W. Va. — The Department of Music of Taylor University, Upland, Ind., will present Jack Fisher in his senior piano recital on Friday at 8:15 p.m. Shreiner Auditorium.

He is a son of Mrs. Dodd Fisher of Mt. Storm and is a pupil of Professor Hilda L. Steyer, who is currently beginning work toward a Doctor of Philosophy in music theory.

During his elementary and high school years young Fisher received piano training at Potomac State College, Keyser, under Professor Leonard G. Withers, and has performed in a number of recitals.

While in high school he and Professor Withers were guest artists for the Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra during winter recitals in 1959.

Friday's recital will be in partial fulfillment of the requirements for a Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in music. Mr. Fisher who is also majoring in mathematics, has been on the dean's list throughout his college career, will graduate in June and plans to begin graduate work in September.

His recital will represent four periods: baroque, classical, romantic and 20th century music. Selections he will play will include the works of Bach, Beethoven, Liszt and Brahms.

Oldtown Methodist Men Plan Supper

OLDTOWN — The Oldtown Methodist Men will sponsor a pancake, buckwheat and sausage supper tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. in the Methodist Church social room.

Proceeds will be used for the new church building fund. The public is invited. A bake sale will also be held.

Tri-Towns Personals

Mrs. Mary Wilt of 37 Jones Street, Piedmont, visited Mrs. Daisy Darr at Frederick. Mrs. Darr is formerly of Cumberland. Mrs. Carmel Kight, RN of 123 Wood Street, Westernport was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser.

Keyser Family Active In Scouting Program

KEYSER — Commemoration of National Boy Scout Week and Girl Scout Week is for some individuals, a special event. However, for the John P. Stephen family, 215 D Street Extended, scouting has become a year-round project.

All seven members of the family are engaged in the scouting program and represent a combined total of 33 years of service to their sponsoring organizations, the Potomac Council, and the community.

John Stephen, the father, has been leader of Scout Troop 37, sponsored by the Presbyterian Church, for two years. An employee of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, he is also on the committee of Troop 98, sponsored by the Church of the Assumption.

Mrs. Stephen, the former Miss Dorothy Hamill, of Keyser, is leader of Brownie Troop 72 and the Senior Girl Scout Troop 90, both sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Keyser. She has been a leader for the past three years but was a scout herself while attending schools in Keyser.

Katharine Ann, 16, is a senior scout marking her ninth year in the organization. In 1960 she became the first Keyser girl to achieve the Curved Bar Rank.

Jay, who is 13, is observing his sixth year as a scout and is a first class scout with Troop 37, sponsored by the Presbyterian Church.

Dorothy Lynn, 12, is an intermediate in her sixth year; Alea Jean, 11, is an intermediate in her fourth year; and Nancy, 9, is marking her third year as a Brownie.

The Stephen family will have the distinction of having one girl represented in each of the four branches of girl scouting when the change comes about in September to include the senior scouts, cadets, juniors, and brownies. Heretofore there have been only three branches of the program.

Time and again it has been repeated that "the family that prays together stays together." The

Victory Post 155 Holds Election

WESTERNPORT — Harvey Kerns has been elected commander of Victory Post 155, American Legion. He succeeds James Willis, who was not a candidate for re-election.

Russell McBee was re-elected first vice commander and Charles King was named second vice commander without opposition.

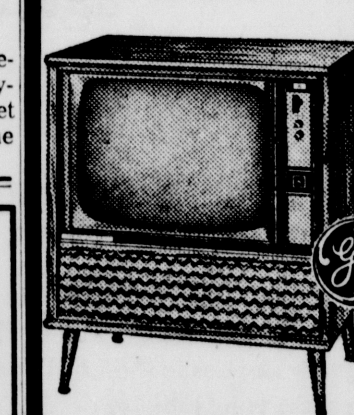

Herman Rotruck was chosen adjutant and Raymond Chaney financial officer. William Kline, who has served as sergeant-at-large since the post was organized, continued in that position.

Owen Lewis was elected historian and Louis Newcomb, chaplain. Trustees are James Wilkinson, Al Stafford and Glenn Shaffer.

The executive committee will include officers, Richard Nichols and William Price.

Officials who conducted the election were Richard Nichols, Russell Miller, Richard Pritts and William Nichols.

Lawyer Speaks To Kiwanians

KEYSER—"Buying Retirement with Tax-Free Dollars" was the topic of an address given to members of the Kiwanis Club at their regular weekly meeting by Atty. John F. Somerville Jr.

In his talk the attorney discussed the burden of additional taxes on the small business man, new laws aimed at helping him, the problems of self-employed persons; establishment of retirement plans, trust funds, mutual investments; the purchase of U. S. government bonds, and the proper procedure for withdrawals of these funds.

He was introduced by James T. Handian, program chairman, following announcements concerning inter-club meetings, a car wash to be sponsored by the Key Club, and the plans for the District Circle K. Convention at Potomac State College.

Guests at the meeting were John Clayton, manager of the Coffman-Fisher Company here, and Robert Jenkins, of the KHS Key Club.

Registration Set For First Graders

FROSTBURG — The registration of youngsters who expect to enter the first grade at St. Michael's School next September will be held March 26-28 from 3 to 4 p.m. in the music room of the school.

In other parish activities, Rev. Joseph Krach, of St. Peter's Church, Oakland, will speak on "God's Plan For Man," during a Lenten service tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Saint Michael's Church. The senior choir will sing.

Stations of the Cross will be held Friday at 2:15 p.m. and 7:15 p.m. in the church. The weekly public social for the benefit of the church will be held on Friday at 8 p.m. in the church hall.

Child Drowns

RIPLEY, W. Va. (UPI)—A 22-month-old Jackson County girl drowned when she toppled into a large stone creek containing about 6 inches of water Sunday. Angela Sue Koontz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oshel Koontz of nearby Kenna, was found dead 10 minutes after she disappeared at her grandparents' home at Kenna.

Auction Is Planned By Romney Kiwanis

ROMNEY — Kiwanis Club of Romney is requesting housewives, during housecleaning time, to set aside any articles which they wish to dispose of for an auction to be held by the club. Arrangements for picking up the articles will be announced later.

The auction will be the first fund raising project of the club for 1963 and the funds realized will go into the establishment of a college student aid fund for Hampshire County students.

Articles in any category will be accepted for auction.

Ladies Will Meet

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Margaret Beck will serve as hostess at the meeting of the Ladies Aid of Zihlman Methodist Church, Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the church. Mrs. Eleanor Hopkins will preside and plans for a covered dish supper to be held in April will be made.

A. R. Salvato Promoted By Railway

Albert R. Salvato, coal traffic representative for the Western Maryland Railway, has been promoted to manager of mineral and timberlands for the railroad.

He succeeds Robert B. Wooters, a former resident, who has been made assistant vice president-sales.

Salvato's position will include development of the vast timberlands and coal resources acquired by the Western Maryland in West Virginia when the carrier purchased the West Virginia Central and Pittsburgh Railway early in this century.

His duties also include contact with coal operators on these lands in Tucker, Grant and Randolph counties for service and sales.

Salvato, who lives in LaVale with his wife and three daughters, will also continue his duties as coal traffic representative.

The mineral and timberlands division is based at Thomas where the railroad maintains headquarters for the manager and John Adams, Oakland, forester.

In the past decade, the railroad has planted over 2,000,000 trees under its forest management program in an area which was stripped of timber during the early part of 1900.

Salvato is a native of Philadelphia and was a graduate of The Citadel where he played varsity football. He holds a bachelor of arts degree.

His studies at The Citadel were interrupted by service during World War II. He returned and was graduated in 1947.

He joined the Western Maryland as a stenographer in July 1952 after having been employed by the Reading Railroad.

He later became chief clerk at Philadelphia before becoming coal traffic representative for the Western Division here in July 1955.

Wooters, an engineer, was first employed by the railroad as an assistant engineer in the Baltimore office in 1952.

In 1955, Wooters became Western Division engineer and after a year and a half in Cumberland, was transferred to Port Covington as assistant Eastern Division superintendent.

From 1957 to September 1962, Wooters resided in Oakland and was mineral and timberlands manager working out of Thomas.

In September, he went to Baltimore as assistant vice president, coal development and retained his mineral and timberlands position.

In his new position, Wooters will work with C. R. Zarfoss, vice president-sales, as a special representative for field sales.

TO PAY VISIT — Theodore Paul, Weirton, W. Va., grand outside guard of the Grand Aerie of the United States, will visit Cumberland Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, today.

City Approves Ordinances For Street Paving

Resurfacing ordinances, personnel matters and bids were the major items of business at a brief session of the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Members of council left after the meeting to attend groundbreaking ceremonies for a new float glass process building at Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company Works 7 at North Branch.

Ordinances were approved for resurfacing Fourth Street from Grand Avenue to Pennsylvania Avenue; and Windsor Road from Buckingham Road to its end.

An order which would have named George R. Scarlett as temporary building engineer was tabled for further study by council after a question was raised about what was involved.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum told council Scarlett would fill a newly-created position and that the job of clerk, which formerly was charged with building permits records would be abolished. The new job would provide systematic inspection of new construction and the federal government, under urban renewal, insists on more rigid inspections, Nuzum said.

Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder said it would be well to study the job request further. Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan asked Nuzum if the government had requested information on what the city had in the way of inspectors for constructions. Nuzum replied in the affirmative.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light made the motion to table it. Bids were received on a police cruiser and for 63 uniforms for the Fire Department.

Bidding on the cruiser with a 1962 model trade-in were McIntyre Chevrolet, $1,200, and Graton Ford, $822.38. Bids were referred to Keegan.

Bidding on the firemen's uniforms were Metro Clothes, $59.60 each or $3,754.80; Fire Extinguisher Service and Sales Company, city, $60.75 each or $3,827.25 and an alternate of $58.35 each or $3,576.05; Becker Clothing, Inc., Cincinnati, Ohio, $54.90 each; and Schwarzenbach's, city, $59.70 each or $3,761.10.

These bids also were referred to Keegan.

Mayor Earl D. Chaney was authorized to seek bids for a four-wheel drive vehicle for the Recreation Department and for a tractor and side mower to replace 1946 models at Municipal Airport.

Dr. Gina Glick To Address PTA

Dr. Gina Glick will address the Cresaptown PTA at a meeting Thursday at the school.

The business meeting will begin at 8 p. m. and a nominating committee will be named. Room visitation will start at 7:15 p. m.

COMFORT SOUND HEARING INSTRUMENT DEVELOPED

A new hearing instrument just introduced by World Famous Telex Laboratories brings a totally new comfort to those who need hearing help. It is especially for those who have never used a hearing aid, or those who could not become accustomed to the loud background noises of ordinary hearing aids.

New, super tiny electronic circuits eliminate most unwanted noise to allow you to hear clearly as nature intended. Speech and music are clear as a bell when you wear this new aid. Harsh loud sounds that can cause such discomfort with ordinary hearing aids are automatically softened with Telex COMFORT SOUND CONTROL.

The new Telex Comfort Sound Instruments are especially valuable in correction of nerve deafness, and the problem of those who hear but don't understand. It allows you to understand words spoken softly from across the room, in noisy crowds, or on a busy street with noisy traffic. Best of all, the new Comfort Sound instruments are hardly noticeable.

County Salary Plan Discussed

A bill introduced by State Sen. George R. Hughes Jr., which would increase the salary of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners starting with the term of office in 1966, came in for some comment at yesterday's session of the board.

Commissioner Robert Little Ebert said that he felt the proposed increase was too much and made a motion that Sen. Hughes be asked to decrease the amount.

Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon said that the scale should range between $4,800 for the two members and $5,000 for the board president. Commissioner Russell Carder seconded the motion to request Sen. Hughes to make the proposed decrease in the salary amounts.

The scale proposed in the measure introduced by Sen. Hughes would set the new salary at $5,040 for the two board members and $5,440 for the board president.

Youths Arrested In Stolen Car

Three youths from the Baltimore area were apprehended early yesterday in Slanesville, Ohio, in a 1960 auto which they stole in Grantsville Sunday.

Tfc. L. E. Dunton of the Grantsville detachment of State Police, received a call from Mrs. Irene Young yesterday that her car had been stolen. The trooper checked the area and found a 1963 model car 500 yards from Mrs. Young's home which had been stolen in Baltimore County.

The three youths had 'ditched' the Baltimore car and then stole the woman's car. The boys were arrested in Slanesville after State Police had sent out an alarm.

The boys also admitted they broke into the Hyde Park Fire Hall in Baltimore County and took $25 in bills and coins. The trio was found in Mrs. Young's car.

Mathematical problems inscribed on clay tablets found near Baghdad, Iraq, indicate that schoolboys were learning about the hypotenuse of a right triangle 1,700 years before Euclid's time.

Independent Research Verifies Effectiveness of World's Largest-selling Toothpaste:

Newest Clinical Test Confirms Colgate A Leader in Reducing New Cavities!

Read what happened when Colgate with Gardol was clinically tested against the most widely accepted fluoride dentifrice

► COLGATE'S ROLE IN NEW TEST FOR CAVITY REDUCTION

In October, 1960, a group of independent dental investigators set out to determine the value of Colgate's Gardol formula in reducing new cavities in the 7 to 17 year age group—the age when teeth are most vulnerable to decay. To make the test the most critical possible, the researchers chose to measure Colgate with its ingredient, Sodium N-Lauroyl Sarcosinate (Gardol), against the leading stannous fluoride toothpaste, which had previously shown effectiveness in cavity reduction. Hundreds of dental patients in the most cavity-prone age group were selected from the student body of a large school in the Southeastern United States. These students were then divided into groups and instructed to use exactly the same dentist-recommended brushing method. For the next two years, one group was to brush only with Colgate's exclusive Gardol formula. Another group only with the leading stannous fluoride toothpaste.

► COLGATE'S CLINICAL ACHIEVEMENT IN CAVITY REDUCTION

At the end of two years—over half a million brushings later—super-vising dentists carefully checked results, group-for-group, Colgate's Gardol formula against the stannous fluoride formula. So there would be no chance of human error, these dental records were then analyzed and compared by the most advanced electronic computing machines. Statistically, it was discovered that in this test* Colgate with Gardol had achieved the same low incidence of new cavities as the stannous fluoride formula. When you consider that the study was conducted among the most cavity-prone of all age groups, results achieved by the group brushing with Colgate are even more significant. This study—one of many planned to acquaint you and your dentist with the Colgate-Palmolive Company's continuing interest in dental hygiene—shows what today's Colgate Dental Cream can do in reducing tooth decay. Its results are wonderful assurance that even the youngest family member can brush with Colgate . . . in the complete program of oral hygiene dentists recommend.

► YOUR DENTIST'S ROLE IN CAVITY REDUCTION

In announcing the results of this study, the makers of Colgate Dental Cream emphasize their agreement with leading dental authorities that no toothpaste—fluoride or non-fluoride—can substitute for care and treatment of teeth by your family dentist. Seeing your dentist regularly is the most important part of any dental-health program. Important, too, is his advice on diet, as well as how to brush, when to brush, and how often to brush.

Now you can be a "one-toothpaste family" again with confidence in Colgate's clinically-tested Gardol formula!

Colgate
DENTAL CREAM WITH GARDOL

Colgate helps stop mouth odor instantly for most people—has the between-teeth cleaning action of penetrating Gardol foam and the most mouth-refreshing toothpaste taste in the whole world!

Hundreds of dental patients in the most cavity-prone age group were selected from the student body of a large school in the Southeastern United States. These students were then divided into groups and instructed to use exactly the same dentist-recommended brushing method. For the next two years, one group was to brush only with Colgate's exclusive Gardol formula. Another group only with the leading stannous fluoride toothpaste.

► COLGATE'S CLINICAL ACHIEVEMENT IN CAVITY REDUCTION

At the end of two years—over half a million brushings later—super-vising dentists carefully checked results, group-for-group. Colgate's Gardol formula against the stannous fluoride formula. So there would be no chance of human error, these dental records were then analyzed and compared by the most advanced electronic computing machines. Statistically, it was discovered that in this test* Colgate with Gardol had achieved the same low incidence of new cavities as the stannous fluoride formula. When you consider that the study was conducted among the most cavity-prone of all age groups, results achieved by the group brushing with Colgate are even more significant. This study—one of many planned to acquaint you and your dentist with the Colgate-Palmolive Company's continuing interest in dental hygiene—shows what today's Colgate Dental Cream can do in reducing tooth decay. Its results are wonderful assurance that even the youngest family member can brush with Colgate . . . in the complete program of oral hygiene dentists recommend.

► YOUR DENTIST'S ROLE IN CAVITY REDUCTION

In announcing the results of this study, the makers of Colgate Dental Cream emphasize their agreement with leading dental authorities that no toothpaste—fluoride or non-fluoride—can substitute for care and treatment of teeth by your family dentist. Seeing your dentist regularly is the most important part of any dental-health program. Important, too, is his advice on diet, as well as how to brush, when to brush, and how often to brush.

Now you can be a "one-toothpaste family" again with confidence in Colgate's clinically-tested Gardol formula!

Colgate helps stop mouth odor instantly for most people—has the between-teeth cleaning action of penetrating Gardol foam and the most mouth-refreshing toothpaste taste in the whole world!

Conflicting Views On South Viet Nam

What goes on in South Viet Nam, where the United States has spent huge sums and committed itself deeply? Communist guerrillas are trying to take over the country. Does the U. S. effort to prevent this face probable failure or eventual success?

The opinions of people who have been there could hardly be more contradictory.

High government officials, including General Taylor, Admiral Felt and Secretary McNamara, come back with optimistic reports. Gen. Paul D. Harkins, head of the U. S. military assistance command who has visited all 40 of Viet Nam's provinces, typifies this optimism.

General Harkins has just predicted in Saigon that 1963 will be a year of decision, in which the strategic hamlet program will progressively isolate the guerrillas.

Vietnamese soldiers, he says, have stopped seizing the peasants' pigs and chickens to feast on, and are now helping the villagers to build roads and bridges and harvest their crops, winning trust and confidence to replace the fear and contempt in which they were held. He believes the guerrillas are getting little or no aid from Red China and North Viet Nam.

No one questions the intelligence and honesty of officials who hold this optimistic view. But Saville R. Davis reports from Saigon that "there is not a single newspaperman in South Viet Nam who accepts that line." They believe that the officials, committed to a policy that isn't working and unable to find a better one, are whistling in the dark.

They think U. S. military efforts are being hamstrung by political interference from a government which frequently censors the gloomy appraisals in the reports of American correspondents.

Are these correspondents, who form their opinions closer to the grassroots than the high brass, right or wrong? It wouldn't be the first time that the military mind has gone far wrong by overlooking political considerations.

These Days

Watching The Fuse Burn

The worst thing about the Administration's recent misadventures in foreign policy may be certain secondary effects that could become apparent a year or two from now.

The denial of the Skybolt missile to England was nothing fatal in itself. But it led to the downgrading of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's popularity with British voters, and this could have far-reaching effects. Unfortunately, the blow to Macmillan's prestige virtually coincided with the death of the extremely temperate Labour Party Leader, Hugh Gaitskill, who was slated to become Prime Minister in case of a Conservative defeat. The Labour Party, seeking a vital new spokesman, chose Harold Wilson—and if it turns out that U. S. foreign military policy has been the unwitting agent of making Macmillan so unpopular that he must yield the control of Britain to Mr. Wilson, it could be bad news for the entire free world.

Unlike Mr. Gaitskill, who considered that nationalization of the British economy had gone far enough, Mr. Wilson would apparently revive the primitive class war attitudes that were the hallmark of Labour's policy in the days of Aneurin Bevan. Mr. Wilson has been something of a "soft on Russia" man, something of a unilateral ban-the-bomb man, at least to the extent of currying the support of the neutralist faction in the Labour Party.

But it is Mr. Wilson's economic philosophy that promises to be really harmful to the cause of a strong and productive Western Alliance.

He has been quoted, by the influential and customarily accurate London Economist, as believing in a State-controlled economy that would set up a system of State-guaranteed orders. Taking a leaf out of the disastrous American agricultural support policy, Mr. Wilson would have the British government ensure full employment by buying up any and all important industrial surpluses that fail to sell. Any superfluous amount of steel, for example, would be taken off the market by the government and put into a stock pile, to be shipped at dumping rates to underdeveloped countries.

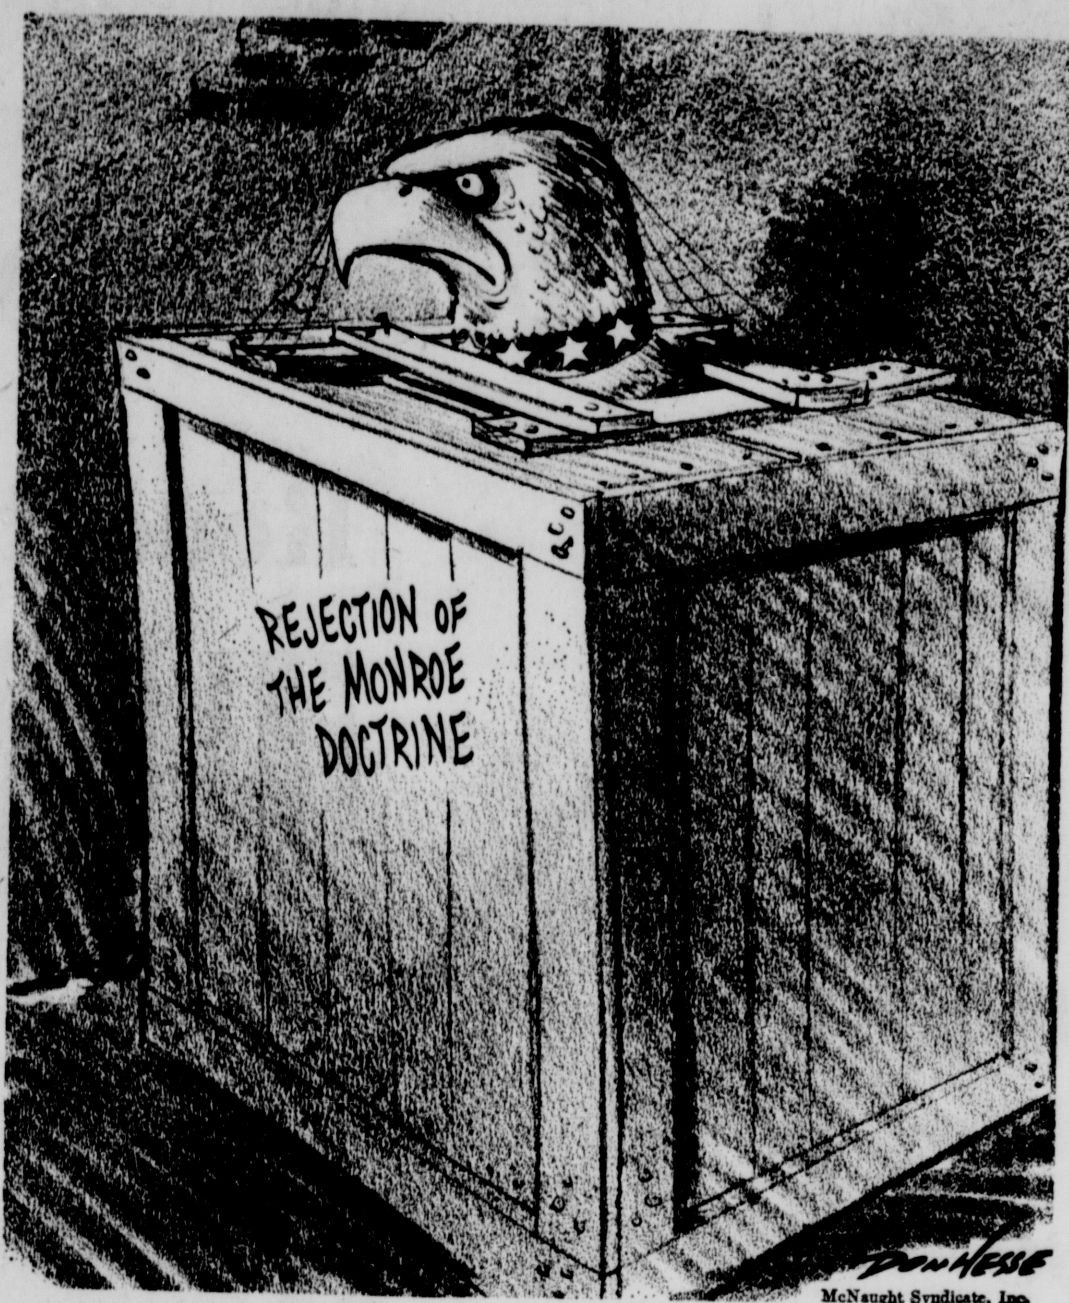

A similar plan was once offered in Washington by the New Deal economist Mordecai Ezekiel, if my memory of the nostrums of the Thirties is correct. No more certain way of saddling an economy with a permanent market-destroying glut could be conceived. If this offers a key to the true temper of Harold Wilson's thinking, the defeat of the British Conservative Party in the next election could set the world back some thirty years.

The direct effect of the Administration's policies on deGaulle who killed British entry into the European Common Market because of Macmillan's alleged "subservience" to President Kennedy, has provoked sufficient comment. But a possible secondary effect of the impact of our policy on de Gaulle has been largely overlooked. It so happens that one of the best friends of a universalized western free market system is the West German Minister of Economics, Ludwig Erhard. Though he lacks the support of "der alte" Adenauer, who is fast approaching the end of his illustrious career as head of the West German government, Erhard has a chance of becoming the next German Chancellor. However, if the expansion of the Common Market, to which Erhard has committed his prestige and his fortunes, has indeed been killed by de Gaulle's reaction to British "subservience" to Washington, then Erhard's future career is in doubt. The West German alternative to Erhard may be someone who would be entirely complaisant in accepting a narrowly constituted Gaullist Europe.

All of this is looking on the gloomy side of things. Admittedly, the world moves swiftly, and hope just as swiftly revives. Macmillan may recover his popularity in Britain in time to fend off the Labour bid for power in the next election. Moreover, no less a friend of western freedom than Clarence Streit, the spokesman for a constitutional federation of all the free states abutting on the Atlantic Ocean, thinks that de Gaulle, "in blocking the Administration's plan for a 'twin-power' Euro-American partnership," has done both western Europe and the United States a favor. One does not have to accept Mr. Streit's hopes for a quick federation of the west to see that a viable U. S. foreign policy must permit continental Europe to have a strong voice in matters concerning its own future.

Testimony That Should Have Remained Secret

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — It may seem unusual for a news correspondent to suggest that any hot news ever should be suppressed, but the best interests of the country are served when the government refrains from publicly telling a potential enemy that it is afraid of him.

A glaring example of news that never should have been published is the testimony of Edwin M. Martin, Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs, who told a House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee that the United States discontinued its blockade of Cuba last autumn for fear that it might cause Russia to go to war. Mr. Martin, who is accompanying President Kennedy this week on his trip to Central America, is high up in the councils of the government. His whole testimony was given in secret during the last four weeks, and it was released on March 14. Several sections were deleted for security reasons, but it is a mystery why the White House or the State Department let the following statement by Mr. Martin be made public for Russian eyes to read:

"As far as taking vigorous action and continuing it, last fall when we had political support, which we certainly had, as you indicated, it was our judgement at the time, and it was a matter which was considered and discussed very carefully, that we had this support on the part of the Europeans and all of Latin America for the purpose of removing the offensive weapons from Cuba under Soviet control. "If we had continued the quarantine to the point of bringing down the regime within Cuba, which is what would have been necessary to accomplish anything significant further, then we would have lost some of this support—a considerable amount of it—and more importantly, we would have raised the confrontation with the Soviets to a level which might well have become intolerable for them, not only from the standpoint of Soviet prestige and position, but also of the Soviet position vis-a-vis the Chinese Communists, which keeps them under certain kinds of pressure to be at least as vigorous in the defense of Communist regimes as they were. The risk of nuclear war would have been accelerated very greatly if we had continued the quarantine to this final purpose. "It so happens that Secretary of State Rusk only a few days ago made an excellent statement describing the firmness of American policy in relation to any future build-up by the Soviets in Cuba or their attempts to subvert Latin-American countries by force of arms or otherwise, but the full effect of Mr. Rusk's utterance has been diluted now by the publication of the testimony given by Assistant Secretary Martin. To say that the risk of nuclear war would have been 'accelerated very greatly' if the United States had continued its blockade of Cuba last autumn is but another way of saying that the United States gave up its

To say that the risk of nuclear war would have been 'accelerated very greatly' if the United States had continued its blockade of Cuba last autumn is but another way of saying that the United States gave up its

"quarantine," without actually achieving its full objectives, because the American government was, in effect, afraid that it might displease or offend the Soviets. No weight seems to have been given to the American side of the case and the right of this country to be offended or aggravated by a palpable act of aggression by the Soviets just 90 miles away from our shores. Unfortunately, moreover, this delicate situation persists today because the United States did not insist upon on-site inspection and hence has not been able to verify absolutely whether all the weapons capable of offensive use were withdrawn. A debate is going on as to how many Soviet troops are actually being pulled out of Cuba, and yet it is five months now since the United States learned positively that an offensive military base had been set up by the Soviets in Cuba.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

THROWS IN SPONGE — In Congress, most members struggle and wait impatiently for the time when they can become chairman of a committee. It's somewhat of a reversal of form, therefore, to find a member who decides to resign from a chairmanship he already holds.

This is the case with Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, however. Mansfield quit as chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, a body not nearly so powerful as its counterpart in the House, but nonetheless it was a chairmanship. Asked why he quit, Mansfield explained:

"It was almost driving me nuts. I may have frustrations as majority leader of the Senate, but as Rules Committee chairman I was becoming a housekeeper. Everybody who wanted garage space or an office in the Capitol was coming to see me. I think I'm well out of it."

Mansfield is also unusual in his conduct of his major responsibility as majority leader. He is the antithesis of his predecessor, the hard-driving, ambitious former senator from Texas and now vice president, Lyndon B. Johnson.

Where Johnson enjoyed the power and manipulation he exercised, Mansfield approaches his office with diffidence and marked consideration for his fellow senators. It was these characteristics, in fact, that gave impetus to the rise to great power of the late Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma. Kerr enjoyed power and wielded it expertly and ruthlessly in the vacuum caused by the departure of Johnson and the unwillingness of Mansfield to take advantage of the position he inherited.

Fatal Kuru Disease Is A Medical Mystery

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Kuru is a fatal disease confined mainly to certain clans of the Fore people in New Guinea. This malady was unheard of before 1954, when an Australian patrol established contact with the Fore tribe. They were true stone-age peoples, according to a report in World Health, practicing ritual killings, sorcery, and ceremonial cannibalism.

The patrol leader wrote in his diary: "Proceeding SW across range, and down and across a small creek ascending to Amusi village, nearing one of the dwellings. I observed a small girl sitting down beside the fire. She was shivering violently and her head was jerking spasmodically from side to side. I was told she was a victim of sorcery and would continue this shivering, unable to eat, until death claimed her within a few weeks."

The Fore people are certain the disease stems from witchcraft. To physicians, it is a medical mystery. Heredity is blamed because the disorder is limited to isolated tribes where intermarriage is common.

Degeneration of the central nervous system occurs, which leads to the trembling, head jerking, spasms, and paralysis. In some respects it resembles multiple sclerosis in man but behaves more like a veterinary disease, scrapie, that attacks certain breeds of sheep. The latter is a viral infection with a strong genetic trait.

There is no treatment or remedy for Kuru and all victims die, usually less than a year after the onset. In some villages, it kills half the adult women and many boys and girls. The mystery will be solved in time but it will take research.

Kuru is so prevalent it threatens the existence of the Fore tribe. So many parents succumb, the care of orphans has become a major problem. The government has a building for these unfortunate children and the Lutheran Mission built a hospital exclusively for Kuru victims.

President Kennedy Has Chance To Revitalize Alliance For Progress

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Charles de Gaulle of France and Fidel Castro of Cuba don't have much in common, but jointly they may have succeeded in putting a couple of time bombs under the lethargic march of Pan-American unity.

Ever since the days of Thomas Jefferson and Simon Bolivar, North and South Americans have been talking about a bona fide alliance of the Americas, but doing nothing more than talk.

Sumner Welles, godfather of the Good Neighbor Policy, came closest to it by writing the Central American Pact of 1923, by which the five banana republics worked together to combat military dictatorships. However, the father of the retiring president of Nicaragua, a U. S. Marine-trained sergeant, kicked this feeble attempt at unity into a cocked hat, and dictatorships, plus disunity, have flourished in Central America ever since.

Today, however, as President Kennedy meets with the presidents of these same republics, he has a great chance to reconstruct unity and simultaneously rescue the well conceived, but poorly executed, Alliance For Progress.

In doing so, he has two unwell-come but nevertheless useful allies, Charles de Gaulle and Fidel Castro.

Whether we like it or not, de Gaulle has ended Pan American. He has driven the first nail into

NATO, has shown that Europe is going to be on its own; and we might as well recognize that fact.

Nationalism Outmoded

The European Common Market has also demonstrated that nationalism is as out of date as the ancient Greek cities which trained expensive armies and set up elaborate fortifications to defend themselves against other Greek cities.

Knocking down European national barriers has made the Common Market the second most prosperous trading area in the world, ranking next to a trading area called the United States of America, which, one hundred years ago, in a bloody civil war, settled the question of so-called states rights and barriers to unity.

And there's no more reason for the five tiny republics of Central America with the same language, same Spanish ancestry, same traditions, same economy, to support separate expensive armies, separate navies, separate ambassadors abroad, and separate expensive national pride than there is for Nevada, Utah, Colorado, New Mexico, et al, to maintain separate armies, navies, ambassadors, etc.

Fidel Castro, our second unwellcome, disagreeable, but yet ever-present "ally," has put the second time bomb under us by warning that if we don't act to reform the encrusted oligarchy of Latin America and give a break to the landless peons, his Russian-trained revolutionaries will.

In no other area of the world has the aristocracy, in this case the descendants of the old Spanish conquistadores, so successfully and sometimes brutally rebuffed reform.

Aristocrats Against Reforms

Even before Kennedy, when Eisenhower in 1959 initiated a modified Alliance For Progress and advanced $50,000,000 to Peru for land reform, the 80 top families controlling the arable land of Peru, merely put the money on the shelf. Land reform was ignored.

For this and other reasons, including lack of drive in both Washington and Latin America, the Alliance has become not an alliance for political power and cooperation, but a bailing-out operation. When a government found its balance of payments dwindling, it rushed its finance minister up to Washington to get a loan from the Alliance. This stop-gap operation has changed nothing.

Meanwhile, the inequities of the Latin American caste system remained unreformed, the oligarchy remained as powerful as ever, and Castro's agents continued to make converts among the campesinos and obreros of Latin America's crowded cities and coffee plantations.

And despite demands by know-it-all congressional committees that the U. S. knock Castro out of the box, the inescapable fact is that other Castros will pop up all Latin America, as long over as the vacuum between the wealthy aristocracy and the landless peons remains unfilled by a middle class.

In Guatemala, for instance, our Central Intelligence Agency conspired to kick out left-wing president Arbenz only to have unrest and the demand for reform crop up again only today.

American Common Market

The problem confronting President Kennedy is to weld the five republics of Latin America together into one homogeneous unit and simultaneously promote reform. He has some enlightened leaders to work with, plus the presence of a Central American Common Market which has made substantial progress.

Significantly, this Common Market was started not by the U. S. but by the United Nations under the guidance of an exile from dictator Perez Jimenez of Venezuela — namely, Enrique Tejera Paris, who is now Venezuelan ambassador in Washington.

Ten years ago, Tejera Paris plodded through the dusty streets of the Central American capitals persuading them to sign a treaty knocking down tariff barriers, with the result that 95 per cent of goods produced in Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, and Nicaragua already crosses their borders duty free.

Costa Rica has signed to join this Common Market, and Panama will probably come next.

What this common market means is that 12,000,000 people of these tiny republics can form a market with a buying power of $2,300,000,000 instead of competing against each other as nations of two to four million people each.

This has already started. President Kennedy can expand it — eventually to include all of Latin America and the United States and Canada; and to include a Parliament of the Americas.

Ski Slope Battle

By John Crosby

ST. MORITZ.

The innkeepers here are more than a little annoyed by the tremendous publicity being given the rival winter resort, Gstaad. Both Time and Newsweek have blossomed with stories calling Gstaad "The Place," just like that, capital T, capital P. Things like that don't just happen. Besides, St. Moritz for almost 100 years has been The Place.

"I smell a rat—or a press agent, which is the same thing," said a St. Moritzian sourly. "Who's handling their publicity? He's doing a great job. They keep claiming Niarchos is there. He isn't. He lives here." (He's here, all right.)

European resorts are just getting wise to the use of publicity, thus reversing centuries of habit. Once they did their best to keep the rich, the titled, and the famous out of the papers because that's what the rich, the titled, and the famous said they wanted. Still, the rich, the titled, and the famous kept bobbing up at the places with the most publicity, so an agonizing reappraisal is going on.

The great business of name-dropping has begun. It's a little like claim-jumping in the old mining days. Who's got Elizabeth Taylor this week? She has a chalet in Gstaad, but she's sometimes reported in three or four other ski resorts in any one weekend. (Actually, she's making a movie in London.) The Earl of Warwick is another prize claimed by both camps. His chalet is in Gstaad but he's on the board of the Corviglia Club here.

The Aga Khan is quite definitely a Gstaad man. The Prince is Liechtenstein is firmly anchored here. Still, there's no law that says these people can't move from one resort to the other and maybe two or three other spots in any one winter. Many do.

The name-dropping reached a pinnacle at the opening of Sadruddin Khan Cheshy in Gstaad when a blazing roster of movie stars, princes, and millionaires were announced. Not one of these people showed up, not a blessed one. (I know because I was there and I looked.) Still that impressive roster made the front page of a newspaper in Chicago.

The other play in the battle of the winter resorts is the age-dropping which is even deadlier than name-dropping: "You don't want to go to St. Moritz. Everyone is so old there. They get up at noon, wheeze a bit, count their money, and go back to bed. Come to Gstaad where the young, vigorous, rising millionaires go." That's been Gstaad's thrust all season and it's done damage.

St. Moritz has riposted energetically with two barrels, aiming at both ends of the sage spectrum. "They're either too old or too young at Gstaad," crowed a St.

Moritz oracle the other day. "The slopes are crawling with children, the loathsome little reptiles go to school there. Gstaad is also full of people who have crept there to retire or die. The Earl of Warwick gave a dinner party the other day at which nobody was much under 90. There's nobody in between. If you want a mature, well-rounded millionaire, come to St. Moritz."

Me, I'm neutral (my middle name is Nehru). I've skied in both places and it does seem to my understanding Midwestern soul that there are enough titles to go around. One vicomte and two earls are as many as I can digest in any one evening. Both Gstaad and St. Moritz slopes abound in young men who can ski better than I can and beautiful girls.

But then I have never yet seen a ski slope that didn't teem with beautiful young girls, all of whom look as if they were born on skis. Neither Gstaad nor St. Moritz gets up in the morning to go skiing as early as we do in the States—partly because they've been partying the night before, partly because it's too cold in these here Alps in the morning. But of the two Gstaad gets up earlier.

It hasn't been their best season here. The coldest winter in memory has kept many people home. In really severe winters people get sick of winter, they can't stand the thought of winter sports. This has been one of the snowiest winters on records in Europe, but St. Moritz got less than usual and now badly needs new snow.

People will tell you it's been a quiet season. Still, the day I got there there had been 25 parties in 25 successive nights—so quiet is a relative term. St. Moritz is much higher than Gstaad, so it gets snow earlier usually and keeps it longer. Its broad slopes over on the sunny Engadine valley are the only places that really look like the ski posters.

As far as the ski rivalry between Gstaad and St. Moritz goes, the really big avant garde isn't going to either one this year: the place is Verber, which has the jet set crawling all over it. Next year it'll be claiming the Aga Khan and Elizabeth Taylor.

Several sections were deleted for security reasons, but it is a mystery why the White House or the State Department let the following statement by Mr. Martin be made public for Russian eyes to read:

"As far as taking vigorous action and continuing it, last fall when we had political support, which we certainly had, as you indicated, it was our judgement at the time, and it was a matter which was considered and discussed very carefully, that we had this support on the part of the Europeans and all of Latin America for the purpose of removing the offensive weapons from Cuba under Soviet control. "If we had continued the quarantine to the point of bringing down the regime within Cuba, which is what would have been necessary to accomplish anything significant further, then we would have lost some of this support—a considerable amount of it—and more importantly, we would have raised the confrontation with the Soviets to a level which might well have become intolerable for them, not only from the standpoint of Soviet prestige and position, but also of the Soviet position vis-a-vis the Chinese Communists, which keeps them under certain kinds of pressure to be at least as vigorous in the defense of Communist regimes as they were. The risk of nuclear war would have been accelerated very greatly if we had continued the quarantine to this final purpose."

It so happens that Secretary of State Rusk only a few days ago made an excellent statement describing the firmness of American policy in relation to any future build-up by the Soviets in Cuba or their attempts to subvert Latin-American countries, by force of arms or otherwise, but the full effect of Mr. Rusk's utterance has been diluted now by the publication of the testimony given by Assistant Secretary Martin. To say that the risk of nuclear war would have been "accelerated very greatly" if the United States had continued its blockade of Cuba last autumn is but another way of saying that the United States gave up its

"quarantine," without actually achieving its full objectives, because the American government was, in effect, afraid that it might displease or offend the Soviets. No weight seems to have been given to the American side of the case and the right of this country to be offended or aggravated by a palpable act of aggression by the Soviets just 90 miles away from our shores.

Unfortunately, moreover, this delicate situation persists today because the United States did not insist upon on-site inspection and hence has not been able to verify absolutely whether all the weapons capable of offensive use were withdrawn. A debate is going on as to how many Soviet troops are actually being pulled out of Cuba, and yet it is five months now since the United States learned positively that an offensive military base had been set up by the Soviets in Cuba.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

THROWS IN SPONGE — In Congress, most members struggle and wait impatiently for the time when they can become chairman of a committee. It's somewhat of a reversal of form, therefore, to find a member who decides to resign from a chairmanship he already holds.

This is the case with Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, however. Mansfield quit as chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, a body not nearly so powerful as its counterpart in the House, but nonetheless it was a chairmanship. Asked why he quit, Mansfield explained:

"It was almost driving me nuts. I may have frustrations as majority leader of the Senate, but as Rules Committee chairman I was becoming a housekeeper. Everybody who wanted garage space or an office in the Capitol was coming to see me. I think I'm well out of it."

Mansfield is also unusual in his conduct of his major responsibility as majority leader. He is the antithesis of his predecessor, the hard-driving, ambitious former senator from Texas and now vice president, Lyndon B. Johnson.

Where Johnson enjoyed the power and manipulation he exercised, Mansfield approaches his office with diffidence and marked consideration for his fellow senators. It was these characteristics, in fact, that gave impetus to the rise to great power of the late Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma. Kerr enjoyed power and wielded it expertly and ruthlessly in the vacuum caused by the departure of Johnson and the unwillingness of Mansfield to take advantage of the position he inherited.

Fatal Kuru Disease Is A Medical Mystery

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Kuru is a fatal disease confined mainly to certain clans of the Fore people in New Guinea. This malady was unheard of before 1954, when an Australian patrol established contact with the Fore tribe. They were true stone-age peoples, according to a report in World Health, practicing ritual killings, sorcery, and ceremonial cannibalism.

The patrol leader wrote in his diary: "Proceeding SW across range, and down and across a small creek ascending to Amusi village, nearing one of the dwellings. I observed a small girl sitting down beside the fire. She was shivering violently and her head was jerking spasmodically from side to side. I was told she was a victim of sorcery and would continue this shivering, unable to eat, until death claimed her within a few weeks."

The Fore people are certain the disease stems from witchcraft. To physicians, it is a medical mystery. Heredity is blamed because the disorder is limited to isolated tribes where intermarriage is common.

Degeneration of the central nervous system occurs, which leads to the trembling, head jerking, spasms, and paralysis. In some respects it resembles multiple sclerosis in man but behaves more like a veterinary disease, scrapie, that attacks certain breeds of sheep. The latter is a viral infection with a strong genetic trait.

There is no treatment or remedy for Kuru and all victims die, usually less than a year after the onset. In some villages, it kills half the adult women and many boys and girls. The mystery will be solved in time but it will take research.

Kuru is so prevalent it threatens the existence of the Fore tribe. So many parents succumb, the care of orphans has become a major problem. The government has a building for these unfortunate children and the Lutheran Mission built a hospital exclusively for Kuru victims.

President Kennedy Has Chance To Revitalize Alliance For Progress

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Charles de Gaulle of France and Fidel Castro of Cuba don't have much in common, but jointly they may have succeeded in putting a couple of time bombs under the lethargic march of Pan-American unity.

Ever since the days of Thomas Jefferson and Simon Bolivar, North and South Americans have been talking about a bona fide alliance of the Americas, but doing nothing more than talk.

Summer Welles, godfather of the Good Neighbor Policy, came closest to it by writing the Central American Pact of 1923, by which the five banana republics worked together to combat military dictatorships. However, the father of the retiring president of Nicaragua, a U. S. Marine-trained sergeant, kicked this feeble attempt at unity into a cocked hat, and dictatorships, plus disunity, have flourished in Central America ever since.

Today, however, as President Kennedy meets with the presidents of these same republics, he has a great chance to reconstruct unity and simultaneously rescue the well conceived, but poorly executed, Alliance For Progress.

In doing so, he has two unwelcome but nevertheless useful allies, Charles de Gaulle and Fidel Castro.

Whether we like it or not, de Gaulle has ended Pan Americana. He has driven the first nail into

NATO, has shown that Europe is going to be on its own; and we might as well recognize that fact.

Nationalism Outmoded

The European Common Market has also demonstrated that nationalism is as out of date as the ancient Greek cities which trained expensive armies and set up elaborate fortifications to defend themselves against other Greek cities.

Knocking down European national barriers has made the Common Market the second most prosperous trading area in the world, ranking next to a trading area called the United States of America, which, one hundred years ago, in a bloody civil war, settled the question of so-called states rights and barriers to unity.

And there's no more reason for the five tiny republics of Central America with the same language, same Spanish ancestry, same traditions, same economy, to support separate expensive armies, separate navies, separate ambassadors abroad, and separate expensive national pride than there is for Nevada, Utah, Colorado, New Mexico, et al, to maintain separate armies, navies, ambassadors, etc.

Fidel Castro, our second unwelcome, disagreeable, but yet ever-present "ally," has put the second time bomb under us by warning that if we don't act to reform the encrusted oligarchy of Latin America and give a break to the landless peons, his Russian-trained revolutionaries will.

In no other area of the world has the aristocracy, in this case the descendants of the old Spanish conquistadores, so successfully and sometimes brutally rebuffed reform.

Aristocrats Against Reforms

Even before Kennedy, when Eisenhower in 1959 initiated a modified Alliance For Progress and advanced $50,000,000 to Peru for land reform, the 80 top families controlling the arable land of Peru, merely put the money on the shelf. Land reform was ignored.

For this and other reasons, including lack of drive in both Washington and Latin America, the Alliance has become not an alliance for political power and cooperation, but a bailing-out operation. When a government found its balance of payments dwindling, it rushed its finance minister up to Washington to get a loan from the Alliance. This stop-gap operation has changed nothing.

Meanwhile, the inequities of the Latin American caste system remained unreformed, the oligarchy remained as powerful as ever, and Castro's agents continued to make converts among the campesinos and obreros of Latin America's crowded cities and coffee plantations.

And despite demands by know-it-all congressional committees that the U. S. knock Castro out of the box, the inescapable fact is that other Castros will pop up all Latin America, as long over as the vacuum between the wealthy aristocracy and the landless peons remains unfilled by a middle class.

In Guatemala, for instance, our Central Intelligence Agency conspired to kick out left-wing president Arbenz only to have unrest and the demand for reform crop up again only today.

American Common Market
The problem confronting President Kennedy is to weld the five republics of Latin America together into one homogeneous unit and simultaneously promote reform. He has some enlightened leaders to work with, plus the presence of a Central American Common Market which has made substantial progress.

Significantly, this Common Market was started not by the U. S. but by the United Nations under the guidance of an exile from dictator Perez Jimenez of Venezuela — namely, Enrique Tejera Paris, who is now Venezuelan ambassador in Washington.

Ten years ago, Tejera Paris plodded through the dusty streets of the Central American capitals persuading them to sign a treaty knocking down tariff barriers, with the result that 95 per cent of goods produced in Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, and Nicaragua already crosses their borders duty free.

Costa Rica has signed to join this Common Market, and Panama will probably come next.

What this common market means is that 12,000,000 people of these tiny republics can form a market with a buying power of $2,300,000,000 instead of competing against each other as nations of two to four million people each.

This was already started, President Kennedy can expand it — eventually to include all of Latin America and the United States and Canada; and to include a Parliament of the Americas.

Ski Slope Battle

By John Crosby

ST. MORITZ.

The innkeepers here are more than a little annoyed by the tremendous publicity being given the rival winter resort, Gstaad. Both Time and Newsweek have blossomed with stories calling Gstaad "The Place," just like that, capital T, capital P. Things like that don't just happen. Besides, St. Moritz has been almost 100 years has been The Place.

"I smell a rat—or a press agent, which is the same thing," said a St. Moritzian sourly. "Who's handling their publicity? He's doing a great job. They keep claiming Niarchos is there. He isn't. He lives here." (He's here, all right.)

European resorts are just getting wise to the use of publicity, thus reversing centuries of habit. Once they did their best to keep the rich, the titled, and the famous out of the papers because that's what the rich, the titled, and the famous said they wanted. Still, the rich, the titled, and the famous kept bobbing up at the places with the most publicity, so an agonizing reappraisal is going on.

The great business of name-claiming has begun. It's a little like claim-jumping in the old mining days. Who's got Elizabeth Taylor this week? She has a chalet in Gstaad, but she's sometimes reported in three or four other ski resorts in any one weekend. (Actually, she's making a movie in London.) The Earl of Warwick is another prize claimed by both camps. His chalet is in Gstaad but he's on the board of the Corviglia Club here.

The Aga Khan is quite definitely a Gstaad man. The Prince is Liechtenstein is firmly anchored here. Still, there's no law that says these people can't move from one resort to the other and maybe two or three other spots in any one winter. Many do.

The name-dropping reached a pinnacle at the opening of Sadruddin Khan Cheshery in Gstaad when a blazing roster of movie stars, princes, and millionaires were announced. Not one of these people showed up, not a blessed one. I know because I was there and I looked. Still that impressive roster made the front page of a newspaper in Chicago.

The other play in the battle of the winter resorts is the age-dropping which is even deadlier than name-dropping: "You don't want to go to St. Moritz. Everyone is so old there. They get up at noon, wheeze a bit, count their money, and go back to bed. Come to Gstaad where the young, vigorous, rising millionaires go." That's been Gstaad's thrust all season and it's done damage.

St. Moritz has riposted energetically with two barrels, aiming at both ends of the sage spectrum. "They're either too old or too young at Gstaad," crowed a St.

Moritz oracle the other day. "The slopes are crawling with children, the loathsome little reptiles go to school there. Gstaad is also full of people who have crept there to retire or die. The Earl of Warwick gave a dinner party the other day at which nobody was much under 90. There's nobody in between. If you want a mature, well-rounded millionaire, come to St. Moritz."

Me, I'm neutral (my middle name is Nehru). I've skied in both places and it does seem to my undemanding Midwestern soul that there are enough titles to go around. One vicomte and two earls are as many as I can digest in any one evening. Both Gstaad and St. Moritz slopes abound in young men who can ski better than I can and beautiful girls.

But then I have never yet seen a ski slope that didn't teem with beautiful young girls, all of whom look as if they were born on skis. Neither Gstaad nor St. Moritz gets up in the morning to go skiing as early as we do in the States — partly because they've been partying the night before, partly because it's too cold in these here Alps in the morning. But of the two Gstaad gets up earlier.

It hasn't been their best season here. The coldest winter in memory has kept many people home. In really severe winters people get sick of winter, they can't stand the thought of winter sports. This has been one of the snowiest winters on records in Europe, but St. Moritz got less than usual and now badly needs new snow.

People will tell you it's been a quiet season. Still, the day I got here there had been 25 parties in 25 successive nights—so quiet is a relative term. St. Moritz is much higher than Gstaad, so it gets snow earlier usually and keeps it longer. Its "road slopes" over on the sunny Engadine valley are the only places that really look like the ski posters.

As far as the ski rivalry between Gstaad and St. Moritz goes, the really hip avant garde isn't going to either one this year: the place is Verbiere, which has the jet set crawling all over it. Next year it'll be claiming the Aga Khan and Elizabeth Taylor.

"Huck" Miers Feels Piedmont High Has "Good Chance" To Win

Lions Battle White Sulphur Team Friday

Defensive Average
44 Points A Game;
Opponent Is 25-0

By JOHN T. KADY
United Press International

A team averaging 90 points a game, a defensive-minded squad that has given up only 44 points a game, and a combined win-loss record of 89-6 are some of the ingredients that make the Class A field in the High School Basketball Tournament at Huntington this weekend one of the classiest in years.

The high scoring team is Mullens Conley, owner of a 20-3 record including eight victories which saw the squad break the 100-point mark.

"We have a pretty nice ball club," is the way coach Leonard Valentine sees it. "We are a fast breaking team with a man-for-man defense. We also press a lot."

Valentine said the key to the Conley offense is 6-foot-guard Ronald Booker who is averaging 21 points a game and is the trigger man on the fast break.

"He's the one who makes us go," Valentine said. "We generally go as he goes." William Crews is the leading scorer at 24 points a game.

Conley meets Barrackville (21-2) in semi-final action Friday and Valentine says "in tournament play you never know what a boy will do. But I believe they will make a good showing."

Coach Joe Retton of Barrackville agrees that the "pressure is a little tougher in tournaments" but he said "we always feel confident."

Barrackville knocked off defending champion Williamstown 59-48 in the Area 1 final Saturday and Retton feels his team beat one of the best squads in the state.

Barrackville is averaging about 65 points a game and gives up about 47 points. The balanced attack is led by Bill Smith, David Ridgway and Donnie Prickett who are averaging around 15 points a game each.

One of Barrackville's losses came at the hands of Fairmont East in an overtime Fairmont East is one of the four teams in the Triple-A division of the tournament.

Piedmont, with a 23-1 record, plays a deliberate game, according to coach William Miers, and has given up only 44 points a contest.

Miers pointed out that his team defeated Allegany, Md., 74-67 and Allegany won the Class A title in Maryland.

Miers said he feels his team has a "good chance" to defeat unbeaten White Sulphur Springs which is 25-0.

"Good Rebounding" "If we play our game I think we can take any of them," he said. "We feel we have a good rebounding team. No team has out-rebounded us this season."

Miers said sophomore Larry Patterson, who he feels will "be a great one," is one of the main reasons his team made it this far. Eugene Taylor is the leading scorer with an average of 16 points a game while Patterson has averaged 14 points, and about 17 over the second half of the season.

White Sulphur coach George Piercy has one of the better clutch ball players in the state in Bob Minnewater who is hitting for 20 points a game and is averaging 14 rebounds. Minnewater scored as the gun sounded Saturday to give his team a 68-56 win over Union in Area 3 play.

He is one of the finest ball players I have seen this year," Piercy said. "I think he rates with any of them."

Piercy also said he puts a lot of faith in his bench strength. "I've gone to the bench time after time this year and it has done a wonderful job for me," he said. "I just hope we can continue the way we have been going this season."

Industrial Golf League To Play At Cover Valley

Circuit Has Ten Teams; Season To Start On May 11

The Industrial Golf League has reorganized for the 1963 season and will play its matches at Cover Valley, the new course located off the Winchester Road.

Dick Cover, manager, hopes to have the course ready for play by May 11. League contests are set for Saturdays and Sundays. In past years league matches were staged at the Fort Cumberland Golf Course.

Gerald Nelson and Jim Klosterman have been reelected for third terms as league president and secretary - treasurer, respectively. Charles "Bud" Aman was elected vice president. Two hundred and eight members were enrolled in the league last season.

The ten teams for the 1963 season are as follows: McFarland's Auto Shop, Coney Island, Ritter A. C., King's Bar, Sports Shoppe, Squire's Electric, Hauger's Jewelers, Celanese, Pittsburgh Plate Glass and Good-fellowship Club.

A meeting of team captains will be held March 31 to alter the league by-laws.

St. Louis-Marquette Battle Rated Tossup

Miami, Providence
Meet In Other NIT
Quarter-Final Tilt

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eddie Hickey of Marquette and John Benington of St. Louis, a pair of feuding college coaches, renew their hostilities on the basketball court Tuesday night in a quarter-final game of the National Invitation Tournament.

In the other quarter-final game at Madison Square Garden, second-seeded Providence meets Miami of Florida.

The Marquette - St. Louis game is rated a tossup since each team beat the other this season by 11 points on its home court. Marquette is third-seeded and compiled an 18-8 record during the regular season.

St. Louis barely got by the first round Saturday when it edged LaSalle, 62-61.

"Close Game" "Marquette is the best running team we've met this year and (this) should be a close game," said Benington, who became involved in a dispute with Hickey over recruiting of a high school player recently.

Miami also had a tough time in getting by the first round, holding off scrappy St. Francis of Brooklyn, N.Y., for a 71-70 triumph. "I have to pick Providence," said St. Francis coach Danny Lynch. "They always start slow, but finish fast."

Bruce Hale, coach of Miami, felt his Hurricanes could take Providence. "We beat them by seven points this year—at Providence," he emphasized. "We were 21 points ahead at one time."

Hale, one-time coach of the defunct Indianapolis Olympians of the National Basketball Association, said his team was better than it looked against St. Francis. "We had a three-week lay-off. That hurt us," he said.

"Huck" Miers Feels Piedmont High Has "Good Chance" To Win

Lions Battle White Sulphur Team Friday

Defensive Average
44 Points A Game;
Opponent Is 25-0

By JOHN T. KADY
United Press International

A team averaging 90 points a game, a defensive-minded squad that has given up only 44 points a game, and a combined win-loss record of 89-6 are some of the ingredients that make the Class A field in the High School Basketball Tournament at Huntington this weekend one of the classiest in years.

The high scoring team is Mullens Coney, owner of a 20-3 record including eight victories which saw the squad break the 100-point mark.

"We have a pretty nice ball club," is the way coach Leonard Valentine sees it. "We are a fast breaking team with a man-for-man defense. We also press a lot."

Valentine said the key to the Coney offense is 6-foot guard Ronald Booker who is averaging 21 points a game and is the trigger man on the fast break.

"He's the one who makes us go," Valentine said. "We generally play as he goes." William Crews is the leading scorer at 24 points a game.

Coney meets Barrackville (21-2) in semi-final action Friday and Valentine says "in tournament play you never know what a boy will do. But I believe they will make a good showing."

Coach Joe Retton of Barrackville agrees that the "pressure is a little tougher in tournaments" but he said "we always feel confident."

Barrackville knocked off defending champion Williamstown 59-48 in the Area 1 final Saturday and Retton feels his team beat one of the best squads in the state.

Barrackville is averaging about 65 points a game and gives up about 47 points. The balanced attack is led by Bill Smith, David Ridgway and Donnie Prickett who are averaging around 15 points a game each.

One of Barrackville's losses came at the hands of Fairmont East in an overtime. Fairmont East is one of the four teams in the Triple-A division of the tournament.

Piedmont, with a 23-1 record, plays a deliberate game, according to coach William Miers, and has given up only 44 points a contest.

Miers pointed out that his team defeated Allegany, Md., 74-67 and Allegany won the Class A title in Maryland.

Miers said he feels his team has a "good chance" to defeat unbeaten White Sulphur Springs which is 25-0.

"Good Rebounding" "If we play our game I think we can take any of them," he said. "We feel we have a good rebounding team. No team has out-rebounded us this season."

Miers said sophomore Larry Patterson, who he feels will "be a great one," is one of the main reasons his team made it this far. Eugene Taylor is the leading scorer with an average of 16 points a game while Patterson has averaged 14 points, and about 17 over the second half of the season.

White Sulphur coach George Piercy has one of the better clutch ball players in the state in Bob Minneweather who is hitting for 20 points a game and is averaging 14 rebounds. Minneweather scored as the gun sounded Saturday to give his team a 58-56 win over Union in Area 3 play.

He is one of the finest ball players I have seen this year," Piercy said. "I think he rates with any of them."

Piercy also said he puts a lot of faith in his bench strength. "I've gone to the bench time after time this year and it has done a wonderful job for me," he said. "I just hope we can continue the way we have been going this season."

Braves Get Cline From Cleveland

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — The Milwaukee Braves acquired 23-year-old outfielder Ty Cline from the Cleveland Indians Monday as the completion of last November's trade in which first baseman Joe Adcock went to the Indians.

On Nov. 27 the Braves traded Cline and pitcher Jack Curtis to the Indians for pitcher Frank Funk, outfielder Don Dillard, and another player to be named before opening day.

Cline, a left-handed batter, hit .248 for the Indians last year in 118 games.

Orsino Hits Three
Homers In 4-3 Win

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Johnny Orsino hit three home runs off Jimmy O'Toole Monday as the Baltimore Orioles edged the Cincinnati Reds, 4-3, in a slugfest match.

The former San Francisco catcher accounted for all the Baltimore runs with homers in the third, fifth and seventh innings.

The Reds outthrew the Orioles, 12-10, with Hank Foiles and pinch hitter Harry Bright contributing homers to the losing cause. The third Cincinnati run came in the sixth on a walk and two singles.

O'Toole, who gave up nine hits and took the defeat, became the first Reds pitcher to go seven innings this spring. Pete Burnside, a second-line left-hander, picked up the victory — Baltimore's ninth straight triumph.

Billy Short, a New York Yankee discards, helped Burnside, while rookie Johnny Flavin replaced O'Toole after seven innings.

Koufax Whiffs 13, White Sox Win, 5-4

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI)—Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers, sidelined after mid-season last year because of circulatory trouble in the index finger of his pitching hand, served notice Monday that he has completely recovered by fanning 13 White Sox in seven innings although in a losing cause.

Sandy and the Dodgers went down to defeat when Deacon Jones walloped a homer in the sixth that gave the White Sox a 5-4 decision. It was the only earned run off the Los Angeles southpaw.

Ray Herbert of the Sox was battered for three runs and nine hits in four innings, including a homer by Ron Fairly. However, after giving up another run on two hits in the fifth, Gary Peters squelched the Dodgers with hitless ball the rest of the way.

"We need somebody who can come in and get the ball over," said George Selkirk, general manager of the Senators. "This is the first experienced pitcher that we have been offered."

St. Louis-Marquette Battle Rated Tossup

Miami, Providence
Meet In Other NIT
Quarter-Final Tilt

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eddie Hickey of Marquette and John Benington of St. Louis, a pair of feuding college coaches, renew their hostilities on the basketball court Tuesday night in a quarter-final game of the National Invitation Tournament.

In the other quarter-final game at Madison Square Garden, second-seeded Providence meets Miami of Florida.

The Marquette - St. Louis game is rated a tossup since each team beat the other this season by 11 points on its home court. Marquette is third-seeded and compiled an 18-8 record during the regular season.

St. Louis barely got by the first round Saturday when it edged LaSalle, 62-61.

"Close Game"

"Marquette is the best running team we've met this year and (this) should be a close game," said Benington, who became involved in a dispute with Hickey over recruiting of a high school player recently.

Miami also had a tough time in getting by the first round, holding off scrappy St. Francis of Brooklyn, N.Y., for a 71-70 triumph. "I have to pick Providence," said St. Francis coach Danny Lynch. "They always start slow, but finish fast."

Bruce Hale, coach of Miami, felt his Hurricanes could take Providence. "We beat them by seven points this year—at Providence," he emphasized. "We were 21 points ahead at one time."

Hale, one-time coach of the defunct Indianapolis Olympians of the National Basketball Association, said his team was better than it looked against St. Francis. "We had a three-week ly-off. That hurt us," he said.

Semifinals Thursday

The winners of the Tuesday night games will clash in one semifinal on Thursday. The other semi final will match Villanova and Canisius, which won quarter-final games last Saturday night. The nationally - televised final round will be Saturday afternoon.

Kelso Arrives For Bowie Race

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—Kelso was flown here Monday to try for something only done twice before — victories on consecutive weekends in the Gulfstream Park Handicap and the John B. Campbell Handicap, both $100,000 races.

If Mrs. Richard C. duPont's 6-year-old gelding can duplicate the feat performed by Sailor in 1956 and Vertex in 1959 it will make him the world's No. 3 money-winning horse of all time—right behind Round Table and Nashua.

Fans Like Preakness

PIMLICO, Md.—The 1962 edition of the Preakness Stakes at Pimlico last spring drew the year's largest turnout of Maryland racing season. Greek Money's nose victory over Ridan and Belmont Stakes carry added was witnessed by 33,854 fans.

Richest Of Events

PIMLICO, Md. — The $150,000-added Preakness, set for its 87th running at Pimlico on May 18, is the richest of the Triple Crown Maryland racing season. Both the Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes carry added values of $125,000.

Detroit Is Named As U. S. City To Seek Olympics In 1968

Los Angeles Fails In Bid By 32-4 Vote

Governor Promises Greatest Olympiad If City Gets Games

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Board of Directors of the U.S. Olympic Committee reconfirmed Monday night its choice of Detroit as the U.S. city which should bid for the 1968 Olympic games.

The vote was 32 for Detroit, 4 for Los Angeles, 2 for Portland, Ore., and 1 each for San Francisco and Philadelphia.

The decision was made after an all-day session at Olympic House where the board reviewed presentations from five cities—San Francisco, Portland, Ore., Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Detroit.

Detroit was picked as the single U.S. bidder for the games at a meeting last October in Chicago, but a review was ordered by the 11-member U.S. Olympic Executive Committee after a protest by Los Angeles.

It was contended that the board had not heard full presentations from the cities seeking the games. The governor of Michigan, George Romney, and the Detroit mayor, Jerome P. Cavanaugh, headed a 19-man delegation of industrial and civic leaders who presented their case to the 41-member board.

"If we get the games, you will see the greatest Olympiad ever held," Romney said.

He sharply criticized opposition to Detroit's original selection, calling it "an unsportsmanlike attack."

Asked to whom he referred, the Michigan governor said, "that is obvious—you can guess."

He obviously referred to Los Angeles, which had put up a strong fight to get U.S. designation as a bidder for the games.

Plan Modern Stadium
"We plan to hold the games in a modern 1968 stadium and not in a stadium used in 1932," Romney said.

This was a biting reference also to Los Angeles, which sought to hold the games in the Coliseum, where the 1932 sports carnival was last staged in the United States.

Even with the selection of Detroit as the U.S. Candidate, there is no assurance that the United States will get the 1968 games.

It must still compete with a number of other cities in the meeting of the International Olympic Committee in Nairobi, Kenya, in October.

Also seeking the games are Mexico City, Vienna, Bue Aires, Lausanne, Switzerland and Lyons, France.

Canisius Cagers Stricken By Flu

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Four of the five starting members of the Canisius basketball team were stricken with flu Monday and one might miss Canisius' semifinal round game Thursday in the National Invitation Tournament.

Those stricken were high-scoring Bill O'Connor, Tony Gennari, Tim O'Mara and Tom Chester. In addition, Pat Turtle, who missed part of the season because of a broken foot, also was hit by flu.

Dr. Jerome Glauber said Gennari, a guard, was the most seriously ill. Gennari was ordered to bed. The others were directed to get as much rest as they could.

The fifth starter, Dick McClory, has had a sore back for several weeks. He has been playing regularly, however.

Canisius is scheduled to play Villanova in the second round of the NIT at New York's Madison Square Garden.

The doctor said it was doubtful whether Gennari would play. He said the others were expected to start the game.

Milwaukee Edges Senators In 11th

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves scored an unearned run in the 11th inning Monday to beat the Washington Senators 1-0.

Only 425 fans saw a brilliant pitching duel between Lew Burdette, Tony Cloninger and Hank Fischer of the Braves and Don Rudolph, Steve Hamilton and Jim Hannan of the Senators.

Hannan finally gave up the game's lone run. Norm Larker and Mack Jones singled with one out and Larker scored as catcher Ken Retzer dropped third baseman Dick Phillips' throw to the plate on Denis Menke's bounder.

Surkont Named Coach

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI)—Former major leaguer Max Surkont, starting his 25th year in professional baseball, was named pitching coach of the Buffalo Bisons of the International League Monday.

Manager Kerby Farrell said the 41-year-old right-hander will instruct the young hurlers and remain on the active roster for relief duties. Surkont joined the Bisons at mid-season 1959.

Many Winter Trades May Have Bolstered Baltimore; Assets: Improved Infield, More Power, Fine Pitching

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on the major league teams. Others will follow on this page daily.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

MIAMI, Fla.—Until mid-May of last year the Baltimore Orioles looked like a pennant contender which they were supposed to be off their third-place finish in 1961.

However, problems developed, including injuries to key players, Steve Barber got a one-week pass from the Army, and before the campaign ended the club wound up in seventh place, 19 games out of first.

Realizing that some changes had to be made, club officials spent a busy winter, dealing and dealing with five different clubs and coming up with a host of new faces, including Luis Aparicio and Al Smith from the Chicago White Sox. Two new coaches also are on deck, Luke Appling and Hank Bauer.

Trades Should Help

"We feel like the trades strengthened this club," says Billy Hitchcock, beginning his second year as manager after some criticism had been leveled against his performance last season.

"Our catching is in better shape now than it was," says Will. "Even though our pitching was not No. 1 last year it still wasn't as good as it could be. Barber had that Army stint, was out with illness for awhile, Milt Pappas and Chuck Estrada had off years and we didn't have Robin Roberts for a full year.

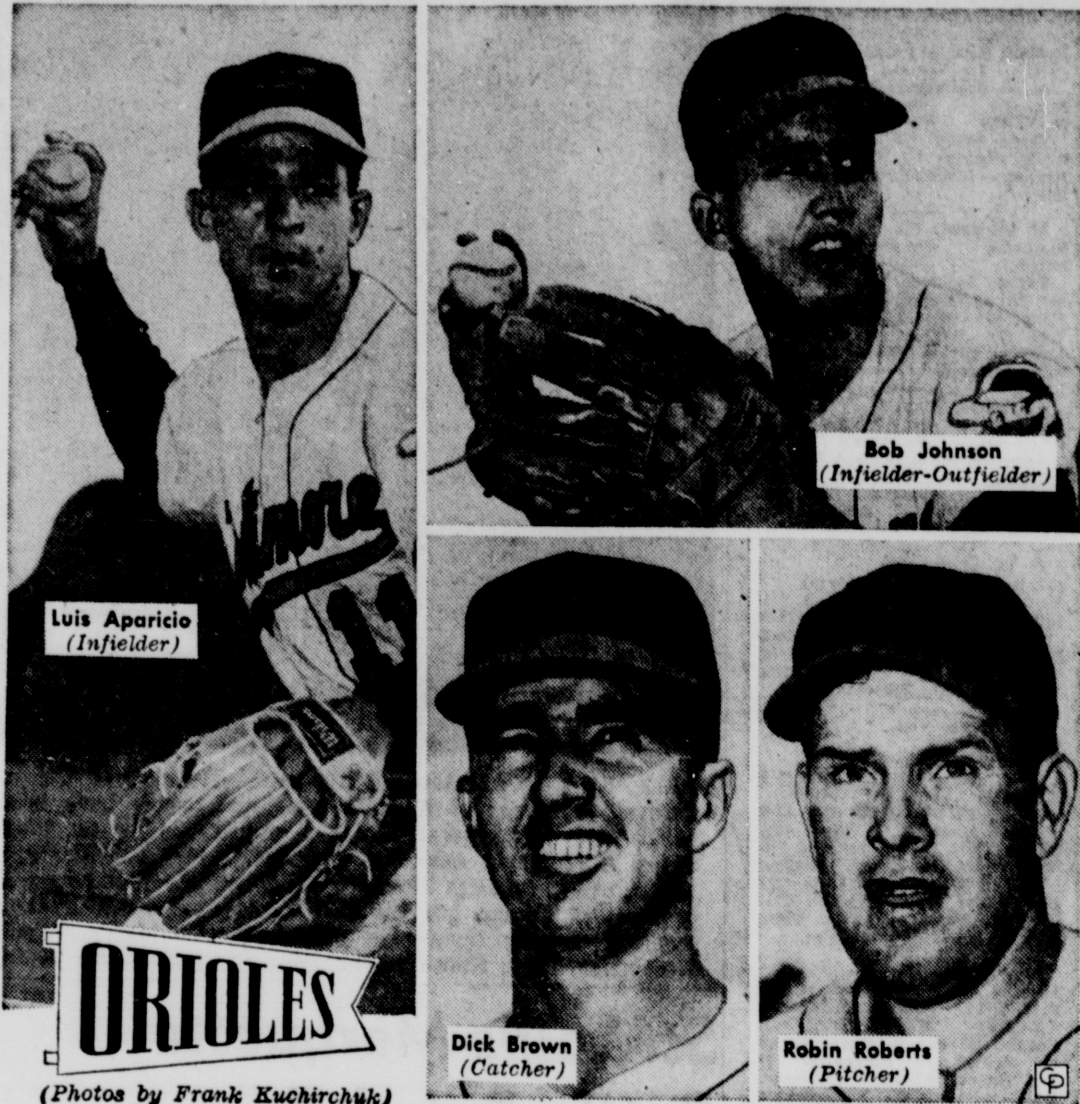

"We know Pappas and Estrada are better pitchers and if Mike McCormick (acquired from the Giants) can come through for us he will help us tremendously. He's been throwing well in camp. We're looking for some left-handed pitching but we feel that we'll find it right here in camp."

Acquired Stu Miller

STILL IN DECK are Pete Burnside, Dick Hall and West Stock, Stu Miller, from the Giants, also could figure in the slab plan.

Among the newcomers who could make it this year are Dave McNally, a 20-year-old left-hander who was 15-11 with Elmira, and Steve Dalkowski, once described by ex-Oriole pilot Paul Richards as the fastest and hardest thrower he ever saw. Dalkowski, 7-10 with Elmira, has been bothered by wildness.

McNally, whose $80,000 bonus was the highest the Orioles ever paid to a left-handed pitcher, came up late last September and in his only appearance hurled a two-hitter against the Kansas City Athletics.

Other pitchers being looked at are Les Narum, who was 12-4 with Rochester, and Billy Short, also from Rochester. Short had a bad arm but pitched in the winter league at Clearwater and did well.

Six Catchers On Roster

The catching is unsettled although Dick Brown, acquired from the Tigers, would be No. 1 at the moment. There are six catchers on the varsity roster, including Hobie Landrith, formerly with the Mets; Charley Lau, with the Orioles last year, and John Orsino, acquired from the Giants. Two bonus catchers, Andy Etchebarren and Larry Haney, will be sent out.

Barber, who could be the ace of the pitching staff, won four of his first five starts last year, the one he lost being to the Angels' Bo Belinsky in a no-hitter, but illness and the service stint cut him down and he finished with 9-6.

The Oriole infield is much improved with the homer-hitting Jim Gentile at first, Jerry Adair moving back to second, Aparicio at short and the outstanding Brooks Robinson at third.

Bob Johnson, a .288 hitter with Washington last year, will be worked at all infield positions and the outfield. Bob Saverine, who was at Rochester, will also be given a test in the infield.

The Oriole outfield has Boog Powell, who hit 15 home runs in 97 games in his first season last year; Jackie Brandt and Al Smith, with Russ Snyder on deck. Rookies include Dave May, who hit .379 for Salem, and Roger Sorenson, a .320 belter with Wytheville.

Praises Powell

Hitchcock is happy about Powell's first year and expects a vast improvement. Of the 235-pound blaster he says:

"He's going to be a fine hitter. He had a lot of pressure from the press on him last year and he was hurt six different times. He played in Puerto Rico this winter and hit the ball good."

About the only new approach in camp here this spring is a true and false quiz given to pitchers and outfielders with a bull session held afterward.

The Milwaukee Braves

Pirates, KC Play Tie

FT. MYERS, Fla. (UPI)—The Pittsburgh-Kansas City game was called at the end of 12 innings Monday because of darkness. The score was 4-4.

Elmo Plaskett had three hits for the Pirates and Julio Gotay hit a home run off Norm Bass. Don Cardwell pitched seven innings for Pittsburgh, giving five hits and striking out seven. Two of the four Kansas City runs off him were unearned.

Pirate outfielder Bob Clemente was cut in two places on the back of his left hand when stepped on during the morning drills.

New York Mets Top Yanks, 1-0

By United Press International

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—The New York Mets made an unearned run in the seventh inning stand up for a 1-0 victory over the world champion New York Yankees Monday behind the strong pitching of Roger Craig and Al Jackson.

With Hal Reniff working in relief of Ralph Terry, who had fired six shutout innings, the Mets scored the only run of the game with the aid of shortstop Tony Kubek's error with two out in the seventh.

Frank Thomas was hit by a pitch and after Tim Lincecum forced him at second, Kubek booted Jim Hickman's easy grounder. Larry Burdett then singled to right to score Harkness.

Craig pitched the first five innings and gave up only singles to Bobby Richardson and Elston Howard. Jackson allowed three hits over the final four innings.

Still Going Strong

PIMLICO, Md.—When Pimlico opens its spring session on May 4, it will mark the 148th meeting at the historic Old Hilltop race course. The inaugural meeting at the present site was back in 1870.

Finan, Petersen, Pence Will Speak At ACIT Luncheons

Thomas B. Finan, attorney general of Maryland; Robert C. Petersen, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education for Allegany County public schools, will be the speakers for the luncheon for players and coaches this week during the Alhambra Catholic Invitational Tournament.

The luncheons will be held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel and will be emceed by Loman "Chad" Riley, radio sportscaster. Pence will speak Thursday, Petersen Friday and Finan Saturday.

Allegany High School's Class A state champions will be guests of the Order of Alhambra at its tip-off dinner Wednesday at St. Mary's Church Hall at 6:30 p. m. Ed Athey, athletic director at Washington College, will be the guest speaker.

Pimlico Hall Of Fame

PIMLICO, Md.—The National Jockeys Hall of Fame was founded at Pimlico in 1955. Eddie Arcaro, Earl Sande and George Woolf were the first three saddle stars to gain admittance via the votes cast by more than 1,000 sportswriters.

Detroit Is Named As U. S. City To Seek Olympics In 1968

Los Angeles Fails In Bid By 32-4 Vote

Governor Promises Greatest Olympiad If City Gets Games

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The Board of Directors of the U.S. Olympic Committee reconfirmed Monday night its choice of Detroit as the U.S. city which should bid for the 1968 olympic games.

The vote was 32 for Detroit, 4 for Los Angeles, 2 for Portland, Ore., and 1 each for San Francisco and Philadelphia.

The decision was made after an all-day session at Olympic House where the board reviewed presentations from five cities—San Francisco, Portland, Ore., Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Detroit.

Los Angeles Protested
Detroit was picked as the single U.S. bidder for the games at a meeting last October in Chicago, but a review was ordered by the 11-member U.S. Olympic Executive Committee after a protest by Los Angeles.

It was contended that the board had not heard full presentations from the cities seeking the games.

The governor of Michigan, George Romney, and the Detroit mayor, Jerome P. Cavanaugh, headed a 19-man delegation of industrial and civic leaders who presented their case to the 41-member board.

"If we get the games, you will see the greatest Olympiad ever held," Romney said.

He sharply criticized opposition to Detroit's original selection, calling it "an unsportsmanlike attack."

Asked to whom he referred, the Michigan governor said, "that is obvious—you can guess."

He obviously referred to Los Angeles, which had put up a strong fight to get U.S. designation as a bidder for the games.

Plan Modern Stadium
"We plan to hold the games in a modern 1968 stadium and not in a stadium used in 1932," Romney said.

This was a biting reference also to Los Angeles, which sought to hold the games in the Coliseum, where the 1932 sports carnival was last staged in the United States.

Even with the selection of Detroit as the U.S. Candidate, there is no assurance that the United States will get the 1968 games.

It must still compete with a number of other cities in the meeting of the International Olympic Committee in Nairobi, Kenya, in October.

Also seeking the games are Mexico City, Vienna, Buenos Aires, Lausanne, Switzerland and Lyons, France.

Canisius Cagers Stricken By Flu

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Four of the five starting members of the Canisius basketball team were stricken with flu Monday and one might miss Canisius' semifinal round game Thursday in the National Invitation Tournament.

Those stricken were high-scoring Bill O'Connor, Tony Gennari, Tim O'Mara and Tom Chester. In addition, Pat Turtle, who missed part of the season because of a broken foot, also was hit by flu.

Dr. Jerome Glauber said Gennari, a guard, was the most seriously ill. Gennari was ordered to bed. The others were directed to get as much rest as they could.

The fifth starter, Dick McClory, has had a sore back for several weeks. He has been playing regularly, however.

Canisius is scheduled to play Villanova in the second round of the NIT at New York's Madison Square Garden.

The doctor said it was doubtful whether Gennari would play. He said the others were expected to start the game.

Milwaukee Edges Senators In 11th

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves scored an unearned run in the 11th inning Monday to beat the Washington Senators 1-0.

Only 425 fans saw a brilliant pitching duel between Lew Burdette, Tony Cloninger and Hank Fischer of the Braves and Don Rudolph, Steve Hamilton and Jim Hannan of the Senators.

Hannan finally gave up the game's lone run. Norm Larker and Mack Jones singled with one out and Larker scored as catcher Ken Retzer dropped third baseman Dick Phillips' throw to the plate on Denis Menke's bouncer.

Surkont Named Coach

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI)—Former major leaguer Max Surkont, starting his 25th year in professional baseball, was named pitching coach of the Buffalo Bisons of the International League Monday.

Manager Kerby Farrell said the 41-year-old righthander will instruct the young hurlers and remain on the active roster for relief duties. Surkont joined the Bisons at mid-season 1959.

Many Winter Trades May Have Bolstered Baltimore; Assets: Improved Infield, More Power, Fine Pitching

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on the major league teams. Others will follow on this page daily.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

MIAMI, Fla.—Until mid-May of last year the Baltimore Orioles looked like a pennant contender which they were supposed to be off their third-place finish in 1961.

However, problems developed, including injuries to key players, Steve Barber got a one-week pass from the Army, and before the campaign ended the club wound up in seventh place, 19 games out of first.

Realizing that some changes had to be made, club officials spent a busy winter, dealing and dealing with five different clubs and coming up with a host of new faces, including Luis Aparicio and Al Smith from the Chicago White Sox. Two new coaches also are on deck, Luke Appling and Hank Bauer.

Trades Should Help
"We feel like the trades strengthened this club," says Billy Hitchcock, beginning his second year as manager after some criticism had been leveled against his performance last season.

"Our catching is in better shape now than it was," says Will. "Even though our pitching was rated No. 1 last year it still wasn't as good as it could be. Barber had that Army stint, was out with illness for awhile, Milt Pappas and Chuck Estrada had off years and we didn't have Robin Roberts for a full year."

"We know Pappas and Estrada are better pitchers and if Mike McCormick (acquired from the Giants) can come through for us he will help us tremendously. He's been throwing well in camp. We're looking for some left-handed pitching but we feel that we'll find it right here in camp."

Acquired Stu Miller
STILL IN DECK are Pete Burnside, Dick Hall and West Stock, Stu Miller, from the Giants, also could figure in the slab plan.

Among the newcomers who could make it this year are Dave McNally, a 20-year-old left-hander who was 15-11 with Elmira, and Steve Dalkowski, once described by ex-Oriole pilot Paul Richards as the fastest and hardest thrower he ever saw. Dalkowski, 7-10 with Elmira, has been bothered by wildness.

McNally, whose $80,000 bonus was the highest the Orioles ever paid to a left-handed pitcher, came up late last September and in his only appearance hurled a two-hitter against the Kansas City Athletics.

Other pitchers being looked at are Les Narum, who was 12-4 with Rochester, and Billy Short, also from Rochester. Short had a bad arm but pitched in the winter league at Clearwater and did well.

Six Catchers On Roster
The catching is unsettled although Dick Brown, acquired from the Tigers, would be No. 1 at the moment. There are six catchers on the varsity roster, including Hobie Landrith, formerly with the Mets; Charley Lau, with the Orioles last year, and John Orsino, acquired from the Giants. Two bonus catchers, Andy Etchebarren and Larry Haney, will be sent out.

Barber, who could be the ace of the pitching staff, won four of his first five starts last year, the one he lost being to the Angels' Bob Belinsky in a no-hitter, but illness and the service stint cut him down and he finished with 9-6.

The Oriole infield is much improved with the homer-hitting Jim Gentile at first, Jerry Adair moving back to second, Aparicio at short and the outstanding Brooks Robinson at third.

Bob Johnson, a .288 hitter with Washington last year, will be worked at all infield positions and the outfield. Bob Saverine, who was at Rochester, will also be given a test in the infield.

The Oriole outfield has Boog Powell, who hit 15 home runs in 97 games in his first season last year; Jackie Brandt and Al Smith, with Russ Snyder on deck. Rookies include Dave May, who hit .379 for Salem, and Roger Sorenson, a .320 belter with Wytheville.

Praises Powell
Hitchcock is happy about Powell's first year and expects a vast improvement. Of the 235-pound blaster he says:

"He's going to be a fine hitter. He had a lot of pressure from the press on him last year and he was hurt six different times. He played in Puerto Rico this winter and hit the ball good."

About the only new approach in camp here this spring is a true and false quiz given to pitchers and outfielders with a bull session held afterward.

The Milwaukee Braves
Pirates, KC Play Tie
FT. MYERS, Fla. (UPI)—The Pittsburgh-Kansas City game was called at the end of 12 innings Monday because of darkness. The score was 4-4.

Elmo Plaskett had three hits for the Pirates and Julio Gotay hit a home run off Norm Bass. Don Cardwell pitched seven innings for Pittsburgh, giving five hits and striking out seven. Two of the four Kansas City runs off him were unearned.

Pirate outfielder Bob Clemente was cut in two places on the back of his left hand when stepped on during the morning drills.

New York Mets Top Yanks, 1-0

By United Press International
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—The New York Mets made an unearned run in the seventh inning stand up for a 1-0 victory over the world champion New York Yankees Monday behind the strong pitching of Roger Craig and Al Jackson.

With Hal Reniff working in relief of Ralph Terry, who had fired six shutout innings, the Mets scored the only run of the game with the aid of shortstop Tony Kubek's error with two out in the seventh.

Frank Thomas was hit by a pitch and after Tim Lincecum forced him at second, Kubek booted Jim Hickman's easy grounder. Larry Burright then singled to right to score Harkness.

Craig pitched the first five innings and gave up only singles to Bobby Richardson and Elston Howard. Jackson allowed three hits over the final four innings.

Still Going Strong
PIMLICO, Md.—When Pimlico opens its spring session on May 4, it will mark the 148th meeting at the historic Old Hilltop race course. The inaugural meeting at the present site was back in 1870.

Pimlico Hall Of Fame
PIMLICO, Md.—The National Jockeys Hall of Fame was founded at Pimlico in 1955. Eddie Arcaro, Earl Sande and George Woolf were the first three saddle stars to gain admittance via the votes cast by more than 1,000 sportswriters.

Finan, Petersen, Pence Will Speak At ACIT Luncheons

Thomas B. Finan, attorney general of Maryland; Robert C. Petersen, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education for Allegany County public schools, will be the speakers for the luncheon for players and coaches this week during the Alhambra Catholic Invitational Tournament.

The luncheons will be held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel and will be emceed by Loman "Chad" Riley, radio sportscaster. Pence will speak Thursday, Petersen Friday and Finan Saturday.

Allegany High School's Class A state champions will be guests of the Order of Alhambra at its tip-off dinner Wednesday at St. Mary's Church Hall at 6:30 p. m.

Ed Athey, athletic director at Washington College, will be the guest speaker.

PPG Starts Float Glass Construction

First Of Type In U.S. To Be Producing In '64

Construction of America's first float-process glass production line started yesterday morning with a groundbreaking ceremony at Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's Works 7 at North Branch.

The production line will mean about 100 permanent new jobs in the Cumberland area, and up to 500 temporary employees of the general contractor will build and equip the plant. It is expected to be completed early next year.

Officials of the company, of the Glassworkers Union, and representatives of the state, county and city governments took part in the ceremonies yesterday morning.

Principal speaker was Robert M. Hainsfurther, first manager of Works 7 and now vice president and assistant general manager of the Glass Division of PPG. He was introduced by Walter E. Dyck, present plant manager.

Both men praised the cooperative spirit of the people of the Cumberland area, which led PPG to start making a long-term investment in the area more than eight years ago. The shovel used for the groundbreaking ceremony yesterday was the same one which turned the first spadeful of earth for construction of Works 7 on September 16, 1954.

Will Double Capacity

Although only about 100 persons will be needed to operate the revolutionary new production line, the float-process line will have about the same capacity as the present plate-glass plant which employs about 700, so that the Works 7 output will be about doubled.

Company officials explained that the float process produces glass which combines the best qualities of conventional sheet or window glass with those of plate glass.

Window glass is made by drawing the molten glass vertically from the tank and allowing it to cool and harden in a drawing machine. This provides a bright, fire-polished finish, but allows surface waves, caused by gravity, to ripple the glass.

The distinguishing feature of plate glass, such as is made at Works 7, is that its sides are parallel with each other, providing distortion-free surfaces. But plate glass gets this quality by being ground and polished on both sides, thereby dulling some of its lustre.

Float Glass Different

In the float process the molten glass is poured from the furnace tank onto molten tin. Since the surface of the metal is flat, both the under and upper surfaces of the glass also assume a flat shape and therefore become parallel with each other without being ground or polished.

The end product, which has met wide acceptance in the United Kingdom and in some Canadian and U. S. markets, is a glass as bright as sheet or window glass, and as distortion-free as plate glass.

PPG will use the float process under a licensing agreement with Pilkington Brothers Ltd. of St. Helens, England, involving rights to Pilkington patents and know-how.

The new float production line at Works 7 will be about a third of a mile long, in comparison with the present plant's length of nearly a mile. But the float line will use the existing batch house and an expanded ware room. It will have its own tank, its own annealing lehr and its own cutting machines.

Cost Saving

At a press conference after the ceremonies yesterday, company officials confirmed that a published estimate that the float process will mean a 30 per cent reduction in costs was "about right." This reduction is possible because no grinding or polishing is done in the float process.

The company officials said they had no idea what price the new glass will command in the U. S. market, but that initial reaction from automotive users and from Southeastern U. S. furniture manufacturers has been good.

Pittsburgh Plate Celebrates Groundbreaking

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company entertained about a hundred guests at a luncheon at the Cumberland Country Club yesterday in connection with the groundbreaking ceremonies for the company's new float-glass production line, first in the U. S., which will be built at the present Works 7 at North Branch. Among those at the head table are, from left, Maryland Attorney General Thomas B. Finan of Cumberland; R. F. Barker, vice president of the glass and fiber glass group of PPG; Walter E. Dyck, Works 7 manager; Robert M. Hainsfurther, first Works 7 manager, who is now vice president and assistant general manager of the company's glass division, and N. Merl Eakins, general manager of plate and float production.

First Spring Woods Fire Brings Danger Reminder

March is looked upon by the State Commission of Forests and Parks as a forest fire danger month except when the ground is covered with snow.

District Forester W. A. C. Irwin commented yesterday that the snow covering effectively removed the forest fire danger in the first two weeks of March.

Two Sentenced For Larceny From Booth

Although their pleas differed, the verdict was the same yesterday for two men charged with petty larceny and malicious destruction of property by damaging a telephone booth last August 20 outside Mason's Snack Bar on U.S. Route 40 just east of Cumberland.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court sentenced them to one year each in the Maryland House of Correction on each of two counts, with the sentences to run concurrently.

However, Robert Booker Jr., 28, and James C. Lane, 34, both of Harrisburg, Pa., will have to complete the two-year sentence they are now serving in the House of Correction before the new sentences start.

Booker, through his court-appointed attorney, Edwin M. Horchler, pleaded guilty yesterday morning. Mr. Horchler asked for leniency for his client, pointing out that the two men now are serving two-year terms in the House of Correction for a similar incident on Sideling Hill Mountain about an hour after the violation near here.

Lane, whose court-appointed attorney was Miller Bowen, pleaded not guilty. He contended that he was asleep at the time of the incident at the snack bar. Judge Harris found him guilty yesterday afternoon.

The phone was torn away from the wall of the booth and placed in the car the men were using. The phone was valued at $73, and $19.20 in coins was taken from the box.

After the incident here the two men and a companion shot and wounded Cpl. Robert Kirby when he caught them tampering with a phone booth on Sideling Hill Mountain in neighboring Washington County. The third man in the case committed suicide after wounding the State Police officer.

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, prosecuted the cases.

Agencies Check School After Complaints

Water Found Safe; Cleanup Scheduled

Allegany County Board of Education and Health Department officials made an inspection of Oldtown School yesterday following a report of a number of cases of infectious hepatitis in the area, and complaints of unsatisfactory conditions in school lavatories.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, said workmen began last night to clean up the lavatories and any other areas deemed necessary.

A group of 40 parents of the school children met yesterday with John McVicker, principal, and Joseph Downey, supervisor of maintenance for the school board, to voice complaints about conditions at the school.

Mr. Webster said the board had received results of water samplings taken at the school by the Health Department last week, which found the school water supply to be safe. Gaylord Brooks, senior sanitarian, said no bacteriological content was found in the water samplings taken by his department.

Dr. John H. Janney, acting chief of the Division of Epidemiology for the State Health Department, will be here today to check further into the matter.

Mr. Brooks said that at the time of yesterday's inspection there was no evidence of any sewage seepage on school property. The Health Department sanitarians also found the school cafeteria in good condition.

Yesterday Dr. Arthur F. Jones, acting deputy state health officer, and Dr. Martin M. Rothstein, county health officer, said there have been three cases of hepatitis among school children reported to the health agency.

Both doctors said the hepatitis outbreak is not at the epidemic state but that strict sanitary procedures should be followed both at the school and in the homes of the children to prevent any spread of the disease.

During yesterday's inspection of the school's lavatories, Health Department and Board of Education officials noted that most of the children did not observe strict sanitary practices, especially that of washing their hands.

School, Recreation Report Ready For Distribution

A 20-page report on public school facilities and recreation areas for Allegany County was released for public study yesterday by the County Planning and Zoning Commission.

Copies of the report are being distributed to all public officials and are now available to the general public at the planning office in the Court House at a small charge.

This report represents a part of the overall master plan for the county, according to C. Lee Renaud, county planning director. It is intended to show what public schools and recreation areas are now available and what future needs will be.

The master plan is concerned primarily with the number, size and location of schools and school sites in relation to other features of community development. It is not concerned with the subjects taught nor with the quality of teaching. As school construction costs have been ranging lately at more than $600,000 per year, any saving that might be effected through careful long-range planning and coordination could be significant.

Mr. Renaud pointed out that one object of coordination between school planning and other county planning is to relate the estimated long-range school needs to the projected over-all development of the county for the next 20 or more years.

Another object is to determine the best locations for future schools or additions in relation to areas being planned for major development. Such planning is designed to achieve the most effective utilization of all school facilities over a period of time, not only for the education and training of children but also as a focal point of social, cultural and recreational activity for all the people in each neighborhood or district.

Parks and recreation areas also are generally regarded as indispensable to an attractive, healthy, well-rounded community. As leisure time increases and mobility of population broadens, open spaces, parks and recreation areas will become particularly important, according to the planning director.

Besides serving the population, certain types of recreation facilities can add significantly to the (Continued on Page 6)

Annexation Bill Won't Apply Here

County Salary Plan Withdrawn

Allegany County will be excluded from the provisions of a Senate bill which would remove the consent clause from the Maryland annexation law.

Senator George R. Hughes offered an amendment to the floor to exclude Allegany County from the bill, and similar action was taken by senators from Montgomery, Prince Georges, Somerset, Washington and Worcester counties.

He said the bill, with the present amendments, will probably be adopted. Senate Bill 125 provides that any city which is supplying street lighting, water sewer or other services to the territory being annexed shall not need the consent of 25 per cent of the persons who reside in the area to institute annexation proceedings.

Senator Hughes reported last night that he has had withdrawn Senate Bill 515, which would raise the salaries of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

He said the bill is dead unless clarifying amendments are added.

Senator Hughes said he assumed, when the bill was sent down along with other county legislation, that the proposal had been discussed by and had the support of the County Commissioners.

The proposal, which would not apply to the present commissioners, called for a salary of $4,800 a year for the two commissioners of the board. Another $240 allotment for acting on tax assessment appeals would have brought total salaries to $5,040 and $5,440.

The Westernport urban renewal bill, Senator Hughes said, has been amended and adoption is assured. He said the bill was pulled back when a minor error was found, explaining that it provided for the issuance of bonds and that any error in a bill involving bonds would result in an adverse opinion from a legal firm engaged to certify the legality of a proposal for a bond issue.

Amended for the same reason was Senate Bill 435, to authorize the County Commissioners to sell $400,000 of bonds for school improvements.

The lack of a "t" in the spelling of Fort Hill High School was the error found in the printed bill. Allegany County was exempted from a bill to discontinue the sale of baby rabbits and chickens as Easter pets.

Senator Hughes said the bill, as written, would have been impossible to administer and "would have required chicks or rabbits to wear birth certificates."

He said he could see that artificial coloring could be detrimental to the tiny animals but saw nothing inherently wrong with giving baby rabbits or chickens as pets.

Car, Truck Meet On Wineow Street

A Ridgeley man was admitted to Memorial Hospital with facial lacerations and undetermined other injuries last night after his car collided with a Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company tractor-trailer on Wineow Street at 9:37 p.m.

Stanley O. Bosley, 2 Knobley Street, Ridgeley, was traveling north on Wineow Street when his car met a southbound tractor-trailer driven by James O. Krastner, East Main Street, Frostburg.

"This is the first time since I've been in the General Assembly that I feel I cannot vote the dictates of my conscience," Tyler said.

Del. Russell O. Hickman, D-Worcester, said the bill had caused him "more pain and agony" than any other matter in his experience. He said he had voted with the administration on its test to reject amendments "which would have made a mockery of the bill" but was sticking by his principles that it was a local option issue, despite his otherwise strong support of the Tawes Administration.

"No one has approached me to offer bribes and I dare anyone to do so," Hickman said.

House Approves Slot Phase-Out Measure 93-42

Explosive Issue Sent To Senate

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The House of Delegates reconsidered and passed by a whopping 93-42 vote Monday Gov. Tawes' bill to abolish slot machines in four Southern Maryland counties which legalize them.

The explosive issue, which had brought charges of heavy lobbying by slot machine interests and a statement by one delegate that he rejected a $300 bribe, was packed off to the Maryland Senate after less than an hour's discussion.

In that time though, many delegates took the floor to denounce the press and bitterly protest implications that votes may have been influenced by money.

Deplore Lobbying The bill was brought back from a defeat last Wednesday night, in which it had failed by two votes, 70-50, after having cleared a key test one week earlier 93-29.

It was on the night of the bill's failure that house leaders had taken the floor to deplore heavy lobbying activity and note with dismay the sudden switch of votes away from the administration.

Administration leaders had waited until Monday to bring up the bill for its crucial last-chance vote in order to let tempers cool and emotions subside. They also had worked intensely to switch back some votes.

Praises Action Gov. Tawes praised the delegates in a brief statement made immediately after the vote.

"I naturally was disappointed when the anti-slot machine bill failed to pass the house last Wednesday evening," he said. "I am most pleased, however, that the members of the house saw fit to reconsider the bill."

"I am indeed gratified that as a result of that reconsideration a majority of members decided to vote for the bill today."

Ten of those who opposed the bill last Wednesday voted for it on Monday's final rollcall, and 13 of the 22 who were absent or refrained from voting last week voted for it.

They joined those who had stuck with the administration from the bill's first test.

There were only three absentees—one because of a death in the family and the other two because of personal illnesses—as the 142-member house convened for its dramatic session. The house chamber and galleries were packed.

(The entire delegations of Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties voted for the bill.)

Sets Phase Out The slots bill, which freezes the number of machines for a two-year period and then provides for a three-year phase-out in the counties concerned, did not come up immediately.

There was trouble with the electric voting machine. Finally the bill was brought up at 2:58 p.m. for a long rollcall by paper ballot. This, with numerous members explaining their votes, took up most of the approximately 50 minutes the bill was on the floor.

The house voted 95 to 44 to reconsider the bill, and then started its final rollcall.

Del. Herbert H. Tyler, chairman of the Baltimore County delegation, switching from a non-voting position on the bill last Wednesday to an "aye" Monday, lashed out bitterly at "pressure from the press, the (Tawes) administration and Washington (U.S. Sen. Daniel B. Brewster)."

PPG Starts Float Glass Construction

First Of Type In U.S. To Be Producing In '64

Construction of America's first float-process glass production line started yesterday morning with a groundbreaking ceremony at Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's Works 7 at North Branch.

The production line will mean about 100 permanent new jobs in the Cumberland area, and up to 500 temporary employees of the general contractor will build and equip the plant. It is expected to be completed early next year.

Officials of the company, of the Glassworkers Union, and representatives of the state, county and city governments took part in the ceremonies yesterday morning.

Principal speaker was Robert M. Hainsfurther, first manager of Works 7 and now vice president and assistant general manager of the Glass Division of PPG. He was introduced by Walter E. Dyck, present plant manager.

Both men praised the cooperative spirit of the people of the Cumberland area, which led PPG to start making a long-term investment in the area more than eight years ago. The shovel used for the groundbreaking ceremony yesterday was the same one which turned the first spadeful of earth for construction of Works 7 on September 16, 1954.

Will Double Capacity

Although only about 100 persons will be needed to operate the revolutionary new production line, the float-process line will have about the same capacity as the present plate-glass plant which employs about 700, so that the Works 7 output will be about doubled.

Company officials explained that the float process produces glass which combines the best qualities of conventional sheet or window glass with those of plate glass.

Window glass is made by drawing the molten glass vertically from the tank and allowing it to cool and harden in a drawing machine. This provides a bright, fire-polished finish, but allows surface waves, caused by gravity, to ripple the glass.

The distinguishing feature of plate glass, such as is made at Works 7, is that its sides are parallel with each other, providing distortion-free surfaces. But plate glass gets this quality by being ground and polished on both sides, thereby dulling some of its lustre.

Float Glass Different

In the float process the molten glass is poured from the furnace tank onto molten tin. Since the surface of the metal is flat, both the under and upper surfaces of the glass also assume a flat shape and therefore become parallel with each other without being ground or polished.

The end product, which has met wide acceptance in the United Kingdom and in some Canadian and U. S. markets, is a glass as bright as sheet or window glass, and as distortion-free as plate glass.

PPG will use the float process under a licensing agreement with Pilkington Brothers Ltd. of St. Helens, England, involving rights to Pilkington patents and know-how.

The new float production line at Works 7 will be about a third of a mile long, in comparison with the present plant's length of nearly a mile. But the float line will use the existing batch house and an expanded ware room. It will have its own tank, its own annealing lehr and its own cutting machines.

Cost Saving

At a press conference after the ceremonies yesterday, company officials confirmed that a published estimate that the float process will mean a 30 per cent reduction in costs was "about right." This reduction is possible because no grinding or polishing is done in the float process.

The company officials said they had no idea what price the new glass will command in the U. S. market, but that initial reaction from automotive users and from Southeastern U. S. furniture manufacturers has been good.

Pittsburgh Plate Celebrates Groundbreaking

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company entertained about a hundred guests at a luncheon at the Cumberland Country Club yesterday in connection with the groundbreaking ceremonies for the company's new float-glass production line, first in the U. S., which will be built at the present Works 7 at North Branch. Among those at the head table are, from left, Maryland Attorney General Thomas B. Finan of Cumberland; R. F. Barker, vice president of the glass and fiber glass group of PPG; Walter E. Dyck, Works 7 manager; Robert M. Hainsfurther, first Works 7 manager, who is now vice president and assistant general manager of the company's glass division, and N. Merl Eakins, general manager of plate and float production.

First Spring Woods Fire Brings Danger Reminder

March is looked upon by the State Commission of Forests and Parks as a forest fire danger month except when the ground is covered with snow.

District Forester W. A. C. Irwin commented yesterday that the snow covering effectively removed the forest fire danger in the first two weeks of March.

Two Sentenced For Larceny From Booth

Although their pleas differed, the verdict was the same yesterday for two men charged with petty larceny and malicious destruction of property by damaging a telephone booth last August 20 outside Mason's Snack Bar on U. S. Route 40 just east of Cumberland.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court sentenced them to one year each in the Maryland House of Correction on each of two counts, with the sentences to run concurrently.

However, Robert Booker Jr., 28, and James C. Lane, 34, both of Harrisburg, Pa., will have to complete the two-year sentence they are now serving in the House of Correction before the new sentences start.

Booker, through his court-appointed attorney, Edwin M. Horchler, pleaded guilty yesterday morning. Mr. Horchler asked for leniency for his client, pointing out that the two men now are serving two-year terms in the House of Correction for a similar incident on Sideling Hill Mountain about an hour after the violation near here.

Lane, whose court-appointed attorney was Miller Bowen, pleaded not guilty. He contended that he was asleep at the time of the incident at the snack bar. Judge Harris found him guilty yesterday afternoon.

The phone was torn away from the wall of the booth and placed in the car the men were using. The phone was valued at $73, and $19.20 in coins was taken from the box.

After the incident here the two men and a companion shot and wounded Cpl. Robert Kirby when he caught them tampering with a phone booth on Sideling Hill Mountain in neighboring Washington County. The third man in the case committed suicide after wounding the State Police officer.

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, prosecuted the cases.

Agencies Check School After Complaints

Water Found Safe; Cleanup Scheduled

Allegany County Board of Education and Health Department officials made an inspection of Oldtown School yesterday following a report of a number of cases of infectious hepatitis in the area, and complaints of unsatisfactory conditions in school lavatories.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, said workmen began last night to clean up the lavatories and any other areas deemed necessary.

A group of 40 parents of the school children met yesterday with John McVicker, principal, and Joseph Downey, supervisor of maintenance for the school board, to voice complaints about conditions at the school.

Mr. Webster said the board had received results of water samplings taken at the school by the Health Department last week, which found the school water supply to be safe. Gaylord Brooks, senior sanitarian, said no bacteriological content was found in the water samplings taken by his department.

Dr. John H. Janney, acting chief of the Division of Epidemiology for the State Health Department, will be here today to check further into the matter.

Mr. Brooks said that at the time of yesterday's inspection there was no evidence of any sewage seepage on school property. The Health Department sanitarians also found the school cafeteria in good condition.

Yesterday Dr. Arthur F. Jones, acting deputy state health officer, and Dr. Martin M. Rothstein, county health officer, said there have been three cases of hepatitis among school children reported to the health agency.

Both doctors said the hepatitis outbreak is not at the epidemic state but that strict sanitary procedures should be followed both at the school and in the homes of the children to prevent any spread of the disease.

During yesterday's inspection of the school's lavatories, Health Department and Board of Education officials noted that most of the children did not observe strict sanitary practices, especially that of washing their hands.

School, Recreation Report Ready For Distribution

A 20-page report on public school facilities and recreation areas for Allegany County was released for public study yesterday by the County Planning and Zoning Commission.

Copies of the report are being distributed to all public officials and are now available to the general public at the planning office in the Court House at a small charge.

This report represents a part of the overall master plan for the county, according to C. Lee Renaud, county planning director. It is intended to show what public schools and recreation areas are now available and what future needs will be.

The master plan is concerned primarily with the number, size and location of schools and school sites in relation to other features of community development. It is not concerned with the subjects taught nor with the quality of teaching. As school construction costs have been ranging lately at more than $600,000 per year, any saving that might be effected through careful long-range planning and coordination could be significant.

Mr. Renaud pointed out that one object of coordination between school planning and other county planning is to relate the estimated long-range school needs to the projected over-all development of the county for the next 20 or more years.

Another object is to determine the best locations for future schools or additions in relation to areas being planned for major development. Such planning is designed to achieve the most effective utilization of all school facilities over a period of time, not only for the education and training of children but also as a focal point of social, cultural and recreational activity for all the people in each neighborhood or district.

Parks and recreation areas also are generally regarded as indispensable to an attractive, healthy, well-rounded community. As leisure time increases and mobility of population broadens, open spaces, parks and recreation areas will become particularly important, according to the planning director.

Besides serving the population, certain types of recreation facilities can add significantly to the (Continued on Page 6)

Annexation Bill Won't Apply Here

County Salary Plan Withdrawn

Allegany County will be excluded from the provisions of a Senate bill which would remove the consent clause from the Maryland annexation law.

Senator George R. Hughes offered an amendment from the floor to exclude Allegany County from the bill, and similar action was taken by senators from Montgomery, Prince Georges, Somerset, Washington and Worcester counties.

He said the bill, with the present amendments, will probably be adopted. Senate Bill 125 provides that any city which is supplying street lighting, water sewer or other services to the territory being annexed shall not need the consent of 25 per cent of the persons who reside in the area to institute annexation proceedings.

Senator Hughes reported last night that he has had withdrawn Senate Bill 515, which would raise the salaries of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

He said the bill is dead unless clarifying amendments are added.

Senator Hughes said he assumed, when the bill was sent down along with other county legislation, that the proposal had been discussed by and had the support of the County Commissioners.

The proposal, which would not apply to the present commissioners, called for a salary of $4,800 a year for the two commissioners and $5,200 for the president of the board. Another $240 allotment for acting on tax assessment appeals would have brought total salaries to $5,040 and $5,440.

Westernport Bill

The Westernport urban renewal bill, Senator Hughes said, has been amended and adoption is assured. He said the bill was pulled back when a minor error was found, explaining that it provided for the issuance of bonds and that any error in a bill involving bonds would result in an adverse opinion from a legal firm engaged to certify the legality of a proposal for a bond issue.

Amended for the same reason was Senate Bill 435, to authorize the County Commissioners to sell $400,000 of bonds for school improvements.

The lack of a "u" in the spelling of Fort Hill High School was the error found in the printed bill.

Allegany County was exempted from a bill to discontinue the sale of baby rabbits and chickens as Easter pets.

Senator Hughes said the bill, as written, would have been impossible to administer and "would have required chicks or rabbits to wear birth certificates."

He said he could see that artificial coloring could be detrimental to the tiny animals but saw nothing inherently wrong with giving baby rabbits or chickens as pets.
